RURIK UNDER RAIN OF FIRE

Japanese Concentrated Their Efforts to Sink the Crippled Cruiser.

STEERING GEAR LOST

Rossia and Gromoboi Were Riddled and Lost Half Their Officers.

CAPT. BERLINSKY IS KILLED

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 18.—Emperor Nicholas has received a dispatch from Viceroy Alexieff, dated at Vladivostok August 17, saying that the cruisers Rossia and Gromoboi of the Vladivostok squadron returned to Vladivostok August 16, and communicating the following report made by Rear Admiral Jessen, commander of the squadron:

"At dawn on August 14 the Rossia, Gromoboi and Rurik arrived 42 miles from and parallel with Fusan, and 30 miles from the northern lighthouse of Tsu island. When to the westward I saw a Japanese squadron of armored cruisers, six miles to the north, traveling parallel with our course. This squadron consisted of four vessels of the Iwate type, and was putting on full speed.

"I took a course to the northward with a view to attaining the open sea, but the enemy, who was of superior speed, turned immediately and took the same course. I was therefore obliged to engage in battle, which commenced at 5 o'clock in the morning with a distance of 60 cables between the two squadrons. (A cable length is 200 yards.)

"In the straits to the south we saw a second class cruiser of the Naniwa type coming to join the enemy. At a convenient opportunity we rapidly turned to the right, intending to approach the Korean coast, and, by increasing our speed to 17 knots, we seemed to have an opportunity of succeeding, but the enemy now observed our intention and directed his course toward us for the purpose of hindering our design.

Rurik Goes Lame.

"Hardly five minutes passed before the Rurik left the ranks and signaled that her steering gear was disabled. I replied 'steer with the engines,' and continued on my former course.

"Seeing that all of the Japanese cruisers were concentrating their fire on the Rurik, all my subsequent maneuvering was exclusively with the object of enabling the Rurik to repair her damaged rudder. I attracted to myself the enemy's fire in order to cover the Rurik. (Admiral Jessen was on the flagship Rossia.)

"At this time I saw two warships, one a second and the other a third class cruiser coming to join the enemy.

"The Rurik hoisted the signal 'cannot steer.' Some maneuvering in the front line gave her a chance of going in the direction of the Korean gulf, and at 8 o'clock the signal was hoisted, 'go east.' The Rurik answered the signal and took the requisite course at full speed, as could be seen from the waves from her bows.

"Evidently the Rossia and the Gromoboi took a northerly course at a distance of 42 cables. The Rurik kept a course approximately southeast at a distance of three miles.

Rurik Is Sorely Beset.

"The battle continued for two hours in this manner. We suffered considerable damage. The Rossia had three funnels pierced, which prevented her from keeping up good steam, and three of her boilers were rendered useless.

"At 9:20 the Rurik began to lag behind considerably and again turned her bows toward the shore, at the same time fighting against the two second class cruisers which had joined the enemy's squadron. She soon afterward began to get out of sight. Vice Admiral Kamimura, with four armored cruisers, kept steadfastly engaging us in such manner as to keep us from assisting her.

"While the Rurik continued fighting we continued our efforts to attract the enemy further north, in the hope that the Rurik would manage to dispose of her two comparatively weaker opponents, and that, after repairing the damage to her rudder, she would be able to reach Vladivostok independently.

"Shortly before 10 o'clock the enemy's fire was the most terrific of the battle, but to our general astonishment the whole Japanese squadron left us after the most deadly fight, which had lasted five hours.

"The Rossia had sustained 11 holes at

TERMS TO PORT ARTHUR STAND

Japanese Will Not Change the Proposed Terms of Surrender.

STOESSEL GETS MAD

Germany Instructs Her Attaches to Leave in Accordance With Offer.

20,000 BESIEGERS WERE KILLED

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

LONDON, Aug. 19.—A dispatch to the Central News from Tokyo says it has been announced there that the Japanese command in front of Port Arthur has been unable to accede to a Russian request for grace in order to permit the removal of non-combatants from that place.

CHEFOO, Aug. 19.—8 p. m.—The Japanese terms of surrender sent to Lieut.-Gen. Stoessel at Port Arthur provided that the garrison should march out with the honors of war and join Gen. Kuropatkin; that all civilians be brought to a place designated by the Japanese admiral; that the Russian warships in the harbor, numbering seven, namely, the battleships Retvizan, Sevastopol, Pobieda, Peresviet, Poltava, the armored cruiser Bayan and the protected cruiser Pallada, and 12 or more torpedo boat destroyers and four gunboats be surrendered to the Japanese.

Made Stoessel Swear.

Lieut.-Gen. Stoessel is alleged to have received the terms with a burst of wonderful profanity, his habitual taciturnity deserting him. He strode the floor until he became calmer, and then remarked that if the Japanese proposition was a joke it was in bad taste.

Gen. Stoessel then changed his manner and courteously refused to accept the offer. The Japanese major then asked for a three days' truce in which to bury the dead. This was refused.

A battle of huge proportions raged around Port Arthur August 14 and 15 and was resumed August 17. The Japanese, it is reported, sacrificed 20,000 more men, but gained important advantages in the matter of position. The main force of the attack was directed against the left wing and resulted in the capture of Pigeon bay positions and some of the forts at Liao-Tieshan.

Apparently a cruising attack originating in Louisa bay swept through the Pigeon bay positions into the peninsula, in the doing of which a majority of the lives of the expedition were sacrificed.

Russian refugees arriving here express confidence that the fortress will hold out. They state that reinforcements from Gen. Kuropatkin are expected within a fortnight. A frightful incident of the recent fighting, the refugees state, occurred in the storming of forts 3 and 4 on the right wing, when land mines were exploded. It is alleged that two Japanese infantry regiments, two squadrons of cavalry and one artillery company were destroyed.

Details of the Conference.

TOKYO, Aug. 18.—(5 P. M.)—Maj. Yamoka, representing the Japanese forces besieging Port Arthur, met the Russian chief of the garrison staff about 600 yards north of Shoshi-Ying at 10:30 a. m., August 16, under a flag of truce and delivered to him the emperor's offer to remove non-combatants to a place of safety. The tender included women, children under 16 years of age, priests, diplomats and officers of neutral powers.

The conditions of the answer required that on August 17 at 10 o'clock the non-combatants should advance under a flag of truce. At 2 o'clock, August 17, a detachment of Japanese infantry would accept their delivery at the conference point and convey them to Dalny, together with a limited amount of baggage, the examination of which was to be optional. Non-combatants were forbidden to bring books, writings, documents and articles relating to the war. The Russians were required to answer either yes or no, and they were not allowed to alter the Japanese conditions.

Germans Accept Offer.

The emperor of Germany has cabled a request that the Japanese direct Commander Hopman and Lieut. Gilgenheim, the German attaches at Port Arthur, to withdraw in accordance with the Japanese offer.

Field Marshal Yamagata advised the commander of the besieging force, and the emperor of Germany's order was delivered to the Russian chief of staff at a conference held yesterday.

ROSEWELL WAITE ELUDES POSSES

Seen by People Near Ellwood City, but Officers Fail to Get Him.

HIS OTHER VICTIM MAY DIE

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

NEW CASTLE, PA., Aug. 18.—Rosewell Waite, who killed Policeman Frank Skidmore and wounded Officer Atkinson at Croton last night while they were attempting to arrest him at his mother's home, was still at liberty at a late hour tonight, although armed posses and soldiers hunted for him all day and far into the night, and the hunted man was seen during the day by a number of persons. It is believed he will be captured before daylight, as many farmers came here tonight and secured arms with which to cope with Waite. Waite is a dead shot with both rifle and revolver, and another tragedy may result if he is taken tonight. Hundreds of excited people gathered about police headquarters tonight when it was rumored Waite was coming to give himself up. The police authorities quickly arranged to convey him to the county jail if captured, to prevent any attempt at lynching. Policeman Skidmore was very popular and great indignation is felt over his murder.

Atkinson May Die.

The condition of Officer John Atkinson, who was wounded, seems worse tonight. His nervous system threatens to collapse and there is danger of gangrene developing, as the bones of his left leg and knee are terribly shattered. His condition is considered critical.

Ex-Sheriff Brown believes Waite was attempting to return to his home tonight, but became lost and traveled through Shenango and Slippery Rock townships in a circle, which accounts for his having been seen by so many people. His mother's home is being guarded tonight and he will be captured if he appears there.

The search is also being continued with vehicles and by mounted men in the locality where Waite appeared today, and several posses will start out from here again at daylight under the direction of Chief of Police Horner. Nearly all the police force engaged in the search today and the officers are worn out, but will resume the quest at daylight.

Were Close to Fugitive.

Prof. George Dannels, principal of the Highland avenue public school of this city, and John L. Galley, both members of Cavalry Troop F of this city, spent the day with other cavalrymen scouring the country. Dannels and Galley were for a time scarcely half an hour behind the fleeing murderer. Residents showed them where the fugitive left the road for the fields. They tracked him through a ploughed field and saw the imprint of his body and rifle where he had tripped and fallen as he ran. It was then growing dark and the trail was lost when the track led into a heavy woods.

Waite was not seen by any person last night except Edward Roberts, who lives a mile east of this city, where Waite stopped an hour after the shooting. Roberts did not learn of the killing until today, so made no attempt to apprehend Waite. When the latter escaped he carried two revolvers, a Savage repeating rifle and a repeating shotgun. The latter he left with Roberts, saying he was going hunting, while he hurried on with his rifle and revolvers.

Seen by Different People.

Waite was seen this afternoon and evening by at least a score of people, according to reports received at police headquarters, which are considered reliable. J. R. Wimer of this city and a companion were walking near the Henderson bridge two miles west of Ellwood City about 2 o'clock this evening when they met a stranger who answered the description of Waite. Wimer engaged him in conversation when they met by offering him a toby. The stranger was carrying a rifle over his shoulder and Wimer admired it, asking its make. The stranger said it was a Savage, the kind of a weapon Waite carried. Wimer is certain the man was the fugitive. After leaving him Wimer hurried to Ellwood and telephoned his story to Mayor Jackson.

The man with the rifle was also seen

HAY'S WORK IS GONE TO WRECK

So Declares Count Cassini in Discussing the Incident at Chefoo.

UNITED STATES SHOULD ACT

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

BAR HARBOR, ME., Aug. 18.—"As the situation presents itself today, without any further steps by the nations of Europe and by the United States, the grand scheme of the American secretary of state, Mr. Hay, to insure the neutrality of China, has gone to wreck, and the entire Chinese question, fraught with danger to all nations that have an interest in that country, once more lies open to all eventualities."

Count Cassini, the Russian ambassador, used this vigorous and significant language today in discussing the grave aspects of the Chefoo incident. He had been in communication with Washington with a view to having an early interview with Secretary Hay.

"Do you regard the Chefoo incident as closed by the excuses which Japan has given?" he was asked.

"No excuses that Japan can give can alter the occurrence, and, instead of being closed, I regard it not only as open, but as far more serious, in an international sense, than any question which has been before the world since the adjustment of the Boxer troubles. It is in a fair way to terminate suddenly and finally the international agreement for the maintenance of the neutrality of China. That would be a calamity, because of the dangers with which it would threaten not only China, but every nation that is interested in China.

"It would seem to me to be a time for action by Europe and the United States. I do not mean the sending of fleets, but I do mean that some extraordinary step should be taken. Japan seems determined not only not to recognize the neutrality of China, but not to recognize international law, and yet Europe and the United States are pledged to the neutrality of China and to the observance of international law.

"We will bring the war to an end at our terms. It may be two years, it may be three years, but we will bring it to an end at our terms.

"Concerning the Chefoo matter it is impossible for me to say, until I have seen Mr. Hay, what I shall do. Japan, at least, should be made to say what she thinks of making Chinese neutrality a dead letter. It opens up the whole question of China again. It leaves it where it was before Mr. Hay sent his note. It interests all Europe and all America. It is likely to affect your 'open door.'"

SENATOR HOAR IS HOLDING HIS OWN

His Favorable Condition Leads to Some Hope by Family for His Recovery.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

WORCESTER, MASS., Aug. 18.—The last bulletin for the night was issued at 10 o'clock from the home of Senator George F. Hoar, his condition being so favorable that it was considered unnecessary to give out any later news, except in case of a sudden change.

Senator Hoar has remained in about the same condition during the day. He slept quietly, talked but little, but his mind is very clear and he is entirely comfortable. His heart is still at times very weak, but on the whole he has, perhaps, held his own. Dr. Charles F. Folsom, head of the City hospital at Boston, and Dr. Warren E. Gilman remained at the senator's bedside tonight. The prolongation of the senator's life during the last two days has given the family some slight hope.

Affectionate inquiries as to Mr. Hoar's condition were received today from President Roosevelt, Senators Fairbanks, McComas and Whitmore, ex-Gov. Long, Lieut.-Gov. Guild and a large number of the senator's friends in public and private life.

Gen. Rockwood Hoar said at 10 10 o'clock tonight that while his father is still very weak there is hope for recovery.

TAGGART GAVE UP ALL HOPE

Chairman Told Parker That He Has No Show for Election.

JUDGE IS ASTOUNDED

Democratic Presidential Candidate Had Been Listening to Champ Clark.

LETTING THE CAMPAIGN LAG

The Pittsburgh Gazette Bureau, Room 10, Postal Building. WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 18.

Democratic National Chairman Taggart has notified Judge Parker that as the situation now stands he has no show whatever to be elected. Mr. Parker was informed that a conservative estimate of the electoral votes that he would receive places the number at 208, which is 31 short of enough to elect. The most liberal estimate possible, including states that could scarcely be considered anything better than doubtful, gives Parker but 231 votes, or eight short of enough, according to the figures of Chairman Taggart.

The above statement was made here today by a prominent Democrat who recently went to Esopus for a talk with the presidential candidate, and came away from New York very much discouraged at the outlook. He stated that the report made to Judge Parker by the managers of his campaign made it plain that only by a political revolution could the judge hope to win. This would not be so bad if there were any signs of an approaching revolution, but instead of that the most prominent feature of the Democratic campaign up to date has been its stupendous inactivity.

The 208 votes which the chairman of the national committee is alleged to have promised Judge Parker comprised the solid south, 151; New York, 39; West Virginia, 7; Nevada, 3, and Maryland, 8. There was possibility of increasing this by the addition of New Jersey, 12; Connecticut, 7, and Rhode Island, 4, making a total of 231, and still leaving eight short.

Judge Parker Astounded.

This was said to be the best estimate for their candidate. It will be observed that it includes New Jersey and Connecticut, which the Republicans deem absolutely safe Republican states, and that it takes in New York, which the Republicans do not by any means concede.

The Democratic managers, it is alleged, were forced to admit that nothing short of a landslide which would carry into the Democratic column Indiana, Wisconsin, Illinois, Nebraska and some of the mountain states could accomplish the election of Judge Parker.

Judge Parker was astounded at the cold-blooded exposition of the situation presented by his national managers. He had been flattered by some of the enthusiastic visitors from the interior who represented to him that the whole west was aflame with Democratic sentiment; that Illinois, Michigan, Indiana and Kansas were good fighting ground, and that Nebraska, Colorado and Montana were safely Democratic. Champ Clark had filled the judge's mind with a similar impression and he could hardly believe his ears when he was told by men at the head of his campaign committee that the normal chances not only were against him, but that it would be practically a political miracle if he were elected. The most significant feature of the estimate given by the national managers to their leaders was the complete elimination from the calculation of Indiana and Illinois. Virtually, it was conceding those states to the opposition.

The Hopeless Situation.

According to the opinion of the men who brought these reports from the east, it has been the hopelessness of the situation that has kept the national committee from starting the campaign going and has induced the inactivity that has called forth such vehement protest from leading Democrats and newspapers of that faith all over the country. He stated that he thought the managers were waiting for something to turn up, some demonstration that would give impetus to a movement to arouse enthusiasm and start the ball rolling.

Secretary Taft said at the White House today that he will shortly leave for New England to make some political speeches. He will talk in Montpelier, Vt., August 26, and at one or two places in Maine the last of August. Secretary Taft is the second cabinet officer to go into the two New England states which hold elections next month. Secretary Wilson is the other one, and these two big guns will be supplemented by many other prominent Republicans, including Speaker Cannon. The Vermont election will be held the first week in September, and the Maine election the following week.

L. W. STRAYER.

ATTEMPT TO WRECK TIPPLE.

Another One Dynamited Previously and Son-in-Law and Horse of Mine Owner Shot.

MEYERSDALE, PA., Aug. 18.—(Special.)—At 3 o'clock this morning unknown men attempted to wreck the tipple at the mines of the Big Vein Coal Company near West Salisbury, six miles south of this place. The dock holding 30 cars of coal at the top of the inclined plane was broken and the cars crashed down the plane, tearing up the track and damaging the tipple. But for several large steel gondolas standing underneath the chutes of the tipple the coal cars would have demolished a dwelling house nearby. This was the second attempt within a week to demolish the tipple.

The one at the Meager mine, on Friday night, was dynamited and set on fire and a son-in-law of Mr. Meager, the mine owner, and one of his horses were shot from ambush. The sheriff has a posse of deputies in that region, but no arrests have been made.

STEEL PRICES CUT $5 A TON

The Lackawanna Company Breaks Rates on Beams and Plates.

WAR TO CONTINUE

It Is Expected That United States Steel Corporation Will Reduce Bars.

SECRET ORDERS TO AGENTS

The Pittsburgh Gazette Bureau, Herald Building, Herald Square. NEW YORK, Aug. 18.

In the iron and steel trade the outlook became still more serious today when it was learned that the Lackawanna Steel Company had entered the list as a competitor with the United States Steel Corporation by breaking association prices on beams and plates. The new company has cut pool prices to the amount of $5 a ton.

With its great plants at Buffalo, the Lackawanna Steel Company is a formidable rival to the Steel Corporation in the manufacture of structural steel. Its finishing plants have been in operation a comparatively short time, but the effect of its competition has already been felt keenly by its rivals.

Overtures were made recently by the beam association to the Lackawanna company, but the latter declined the offer of membership on the plea that pool agreements were no longer kept. The association's price of $1.60 a 100 weight at Pittsburgh has been reduced by the new company to $1.25, the cut amounting to $5 a ton.

In the trade it is now expected that war will be opened on the Lackawanna Steel Company, led by the United States Steel Corporation. The fight will also be directed against the Republic Iron and Steel Company, and it is felt that the next reduction will be in bars, which are manufactured by the Republic company.

In a Belligerent Mood.

According to officials of the United States Steel Corporation, the steel company is now in a belligerent mood. Although the reductions in wire products was given out officially, still more extensive cuts are permitted by the corporation. It has issued secret orders to agents to book wire business at any price, in order to protect their customers against the Pittsburgh Steel Company.

It is thought that the action taken by the corporation through the American Steel and Wire Company will prevent the delivery of billets by the Republic company to the Pittsburgh Steel Company. The main object of the corporation in cutting wire products was to make the $19 a ton contract between the two companies ineffective. In fact, United States Steel threatens to make prices so low that the Pittsburgh Steel Company will not be able to pay the figure agreed upon to the Republic company without selling its manufactures at a loss.

Nothing daunted, however, the Pittsburgh Steel Company today met the cut ordered by the American Steel and Wire Company and made an additional reduction by quoting the straight prices to retailers in carload lots. The producers have heretofore quoted $1 a ton more to retailers than to jobbers.

W. H. Rowe, who is president of the Pittsburgh Steel Company, which is now attracting the attention of the trade because of its part in precipitating the steel war, obtained his training in the steel and wire industry in the mills which were at one time controlled by John W. Gates. With its modern machinery, it is contended that the new company can turn out finished products just as cheaply as the mills of the United States Steel Corporation.

Little Effect on Shares.

In view of the trade conditions, the United States Steel shares were rather heavy at the opening of the stock market. Starting at 59¾, the preferred declined a point from Wednesday's closing to 58¾, but the stock soon rallied, and at the market's close the common and the preferred shares had lost only ⅛.

Owing to the fact that wire and wire products constitute the second largest line of finished steel products turned out by the United States Steel Corporation, the sharp reduction in the price of those manufactures will have a far-reaching effect on the corporation's gross revenues.

Steel rails exceeded the output of the corporation's wire products last year by only 807,000 tons. The steel rail output was valued at $54,000,000, while that of wire products was estimated at nearly $45,000,000.

Members of the nut and bolt association, who have been meeting in this city, have reaffirmed the prevailing schedule of prices without opposition. While the action by the members of the association is not construed by the trade to mean that there will be no ultimate change in the prices of bar iron, it is regarded as an indication that that branch of the steel trade has not, as yet, been affected by the demoralization prevailing in the pools.

ALEXANDER DODDS.

HERO FROM ALLEGHENY.

Rescued a Woman After Her Automobile Had Plunged Into the Chicago River.

CHICAGO, Aug. 18.—(Special.)—Mrs. Willems, one of the occupants of the automobile which plunged into the Chicago river at the Rush street bridge last night, in speaking of her escape, said:

"Had it not been for Louis Mohr I never could have been saved. It was a miracle of thoughtfulness, quickness and agility. I can't say enough in his praise."

Louis Mohr, the young sailor, whose home is in Allegheny, has the chief attribute of the hero. His modesty is most noticeable. "Anybody would have done just the same," he said, when asked about the rescue.

Young Mohr dived into the river immediately after seeing the accident. After heroic struggles he managed to pull Mrs. Willems out of the mud.

JAPAN MAY FIGHT CHINA OVER CONCESSIONS TO RUSSIA

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

CHEFOO, Aug. 19.—(6 a. m.)—Two Japanese torpedo boat destroyers entered the harbor at 5:30 a. m. today. They remained half an hour and then departed. Five other destroyers are reported to be outside.

SHANGHAI, Aug. 18.—Upon the recommendation of the chief of customs, the taotai of Shanghai will allow the Russian cruiser Askold and the Russian torpedo boat destroyer Grozovoi to remain in port until August 23, when one day's notice to leave or disarm will be given them. The arrival of Chinese men-of-war is expected.

M. Odagira, the Japanese consul general, has notified the taotai that a Japanese fleet is coming to seize the Askold and the Grozovoi. The chief engineer of the customs department reports that the Russian vessels are not seaworthy.

The repairs being made by the Russians on the Grozovoi will be completed in about 10 days. It is uncertain when the repairs to the Askold will be finished. The situation is thought to be acute. The foreign consuls are determined to preserve the neutrality of the port.

Russian Boats Dismantle.

TSIN-TAU, Aug. 18.—All the ammunition of the Russian battleship Czarevitch and three torpedo boat destroyers has been removed and stored in a German magazine. The work of dismantling the guns of the Russian vessels has been completed.

England Is Notified.

LONDON, Aug. 18.—Japan has officially notified Great Britain that she does not propose to give up the Russian torpedo boat destroyer Ryeshitelni.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—Sir Chentung Liang-Cheng, the Chinese minister, called at the state department today for a conference with Mr. Hay. The question of China's neutrality was under discussion. The minister did not attempt to conceal his belief that the problems presented to China in the last few days by the presence of Russian ships in Chinese waters might lead to serious consequences.

GROVER BLIGHT IS ON PARKER

Bryan Says Cleveland Insults Democrats by Talk of Return to Sanity.

JUDGE'S SPEECH CRITICISED

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

LINCOLN, NEB., Aug. 18.—Under the heading, "Cleveland's Blighting Indorsement," William Jennings Bryan says in this week's Commoner:

"Mr. Cleveland has indorsed the nomination of Judge Parker, but he has done it in such a way as to justify the judge in praying to be saved from such friends. Instead of rejoicing that Mr. Parker's election would rid the country of imperialism, reduce the army, quench the warlike spirit which the president has engendered and remove the race question from politics, Mr. Cleveland insults the loyal Democrats by talking about a return to 'sanity' and enlarges upon the judge's telegram. Mr. Cleveland seems more anxious to turn the campaign into a vindication of himself than to contribute toward Judge Parker's election."

Commenting on Judge Parker's acceptance, Mr. Bryan says:

"His treatment of the tariff question is not as satisfactory as it might be. He concedes too much when he says that it will be impossible to change the political complexion of the senate during the next four years. If the senate is to be Republican during his entire administration, then the only change to be hoped for is a change of executive with only such legislative reform as a Republican senate will consent to. On the trust question, too, his speech is general rather than specific. The failure of the president to enforce the law is properly criticised, but there is nothing in his speech calculated to make the trust issue a vital one in the campaign.

"The declaration of his purpose not to be a candidate again in case of his election, will go far to convince the public of his purpose to discharge his duty with an eye single to his country's good, as he understands that good. His desire to remove selfish considerations contrasts most favorably with the three years' effort of the present incumbent to secure a second term. The speech is sure to make the judge friends and will increase his growing chances of success."

KIDNAPED MANNINO BOY RETURNED TO HIS HOME

Brought to His Parents by a Cousin, Who Is Held by the Police.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—Tony Mannino, the Brooklyn boy who has been mysteriously missing for nine days, was brought to his home about 12 o'clock tonight by his cousin, Salvatore Mannino, who said he had found him in Columbia street, four blocks away from the Mannino residence.

The police were at once notified by the parents and detectives were sent to the house with orders to bring the boy and Salvatore to the station house. There the latter was plied with questions, but as he speaks very little English it was impossible to learn much from him. An interpreter was called in, and through him Salvatore repeated the story he told the parents of the boy.

The boy himself, when questioned, confirmed the story told by Angelo Cucozza, now under arrest, who said he had brought the boy from Brooklyn to a certain house on Thirty-fourth street, this city. The police have decided to hold Salvatore Mannino as an accomplice in the abduction, and believe the solution of the mystery is now within their grasp.

KNAPP ELECTROCUTED.

Confessed Murderer of Five Women Is Put to Death in Ohio Penitentiary.

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 19.—Alfred A. Knapp, convicted of the murder of his wife, Hannah Goddard Knapp, and who confessed to having murdered five women, was electrocuted in the annex at the Ohio penitentiary a few minutes after midnight.

Knapp, who weakened when he found his last hope for life had gone and expressed a fear that he would have to be carried to the death chair, regained his nerve and met his fate with little show of fear or emotion. The electrocution was performed without a hitch, the first shock being applied at 12:02, the second a minute later and at 12:09 he was pronounced dead.

Knapp was convicted and electrocuted for the murder of his third wife, Hannah Goddard Knapp. He spent more than half of the past 22 years behind prison bars. But for a chance word, dropped unconsciously, his last crime would probably never have been traced to him.

her water line and the Gromoboi had six. Both cruisers lost more than half their officers and the losses among the men totalled 25 per cent.

"It appeared impossible to renew the battle or to return to the Rurik, which was now 30 miles to the south. Taking advantage of the calm we stopped our engines and quickly commenced to repair the breaches in our vessels, so as to enable us to proceed to Vladivostok.

"Capt. Berlinsky of the Rossia was killed and several of his officers were wounded. On board the Gromoboi two lieutenants were killed and other officers were wounded. Both cruisers had 135 men killed and 307 wounded. Capt. Berlinsky was buried at sea."

The report concludes by testifying to the heroism displayed by all the officers and men, who, it says, seemed to have been made of iron, knowing no fear or fatigue.

A personal examination made of the damage done to the cruisers by the Japanese fire, Admiral Alexieff says, convinces him of the high courage and self-sacrificing efforts of those who took part in an unequal battle against the superior forces of the Japanese.

Port Arthur Squadron's Story.

The emperor has received from Capt. Reitzenstein, commander of the cruiser division at Port Arthur, a report of the battle of August 10, dated at Shanghai. The report says the squadron began to move into the outer roadstead at 8 o'clock in the morning, and at 8:30 the following vessels issued in single file, preceded by mine-clearing launches:

The battleships Czarevitch, flying the flag of Rear Admiral Withoft, commanding the squadron; Retvizan, Pobieda, Peresviet, flying the flag of Rear Admiral Prince Ouktomsky, commanding the ironclad division; Sevastopol and Poltava; the cruiser Askold, flying the flag of Capt. Reitzenstein, commanding the cruiser division, and the cruisers Pallada and Diana.

The protected cruiser Novik went ahead of the squadron leading the first torpedo flotilla, while two gunboats and another torpedo flotilla accompanied the fleet to protect the mine clearers on their way back. The hospital ship Mongolia, flying the Red Cross flag, also accompanied the squadron.

The passage across the mined roadstead was accomplished with good fortune, but it occupied two hours. At 9 o'clock Admiral Withoft gave the signal to make for Vladivostok, and the mine clearers started back to the harbor. By midday the squadron had attained a speed of 13 knots. The enemy's ships came steaming up from all directions, and soon attacked the cruiser Askold, which was the first Russian ship to be badly injured, her boilers being seriously damaged.

Try to Break Line.

The Japanese drew constantly nearer, pouring in a hot fire, and at 6 o'clock in the evening the Czarevitch steamed along the line of Russian ships signaling "Admiral transfers command," which was accordingly assumed by Rear Admiral Prince Ouktomsky.

It was then decided to try to break through the surrounding Japanese ships at their weakest point. The cruiser Askold led, followed by the cruisers Novik, Pallada and Diana. They engaged four of the second class Japanese cruisers and several torpedo boats, while there were three cruisers of the Matsushima type on their right.

The Russian fire was most effective, causing an outbreak of fire on the armored cruiser Asama. Four Japanese torpedo boats fired torpedoes at the Askold, but they all missed and one torpedo boat was sunk, whereupon the others withdrew.

There was a hail of shells for 20 minutes and the Askold was badly damaged, but the maneuvers had succeeded, the Japanese circle was broken and the Askold, steaming 20 knots, escaped. The Pallada and the Diana were lost sight of in the darkness.

Capt. Reitzenstein's report is long and detailed, but largely concerns his own vessel. It especially commends the chaplain of the cruiser for heroically going to the upper deck to give his blessing to the officers and the crew, and the ship's doctor for attending the wounded amid a hail of shells.

ELLIS FAMILY IN JAIL.

Aged Couple Arrested in West Park, Allegheny—Stolen Goods Identified.

Samuel and Lizzie Ellis, who were being sought by the Allegheny police for complicity in the robbery of the residence of Mrs. Mary E. Gourley, 1201 Palo Alto street, were arrested yesterday morning by Sergt. Stewart Hamilton in West park. The man and wife were considerably under the influence of liquor and offered no resistance. Magistrate Abernathey held each for court in $500.

It came out at the hearing that Mrs. Ellis opened the door of the Gourley residence, where she was employed, and admitted her husband and her son, Robert. After the robbery the trio walked to Irwin, where Robert left them and returned to Allegheny. His arrest followed immediately. Ellis and his wife were arrested in Irwin for being drunk and disorderly. Being unable to pay their fines, they left a suit case containing some plate as security and promised to return and pay the fines.

Detective Speer went to Irwin and got the suit case yesterday afternoon. Detective Einstein visited a number of pawnshops and recovered the jewelry that had been stolen. Mrs. Gourley called at City hall and identified all the goods.

FIERCE RIOT IN CHICAGO.

Desperate Fight Between Mob and Police Over Captured Steers—Shots Are Fired.

CHICAGO, Aug. 18.—The fiercest riot of the stock yards strike occurred this evening when hungry dwellers of the packing house district sought to capture and kill eight steers which had escaped from a gang of cattle drivers of Nelson, Morris & Co.

The mob numbered 4,000 persons and the streets were cleared only after 120 policemen, in five squads, had charged the rioters on four sides. Shots were fired and scores of rioters were clubbed. A bullet grazed the cheek of Police Lieutenant George Prim and a police sergeant was stripped of his star and club by a woman rioter. One man was so severely battered that he was sent to the Englewood Union hospital. Few arrests were made, as the police contented themselves with dispersing the mob. The temper of the police was shown, however, when a call for reinforcements was answered by a number of patrol wagons, followed by an ambulance. In no previous riot were clubs used so freely.

COLORADO STRIKER DYING IN BUTLER COUNTY HOSPITAL

BUTLER, PA., Aug. 18.—(Special.)—Louis Murray is said to be dying in the Butler County General hospital from wounds he says he received at Cripple Creek, Col. Murray was found lying near the Hamilton bottle works yesterday afternoon by boys, and he was removed to the hospital. Murray says he was one of the striking miners and received a bayonet thrust in the leg and abdomen and was shot in one foot by Colorado guardsmen. He was captured and thrown into the "bull pen." After 26 days' captivity with but slight attention he with others was taken to the state line and told to depart. He stayed in Kansas but a short time and then came east.

Yesterday morning he obtained employment in the Davis lead works, but was too weak to work. The doctors say he is suffering from peritonitis and blood poisoning threatens to develop in the bayonet wound in his leg.

"NO ONE AT HOME," SAID COOL BURGLAR

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CINCINNATI, O., Aug. 18.—"There's no one at home," said a cool burglar, pretending to be the butler, as he shut the door of the residence of Prof. Paul Walker in Madison road, in the face of mounted Patrolman Haffey today.

Almost at that instant a second man made a wild leap from the roof of the front porch and landed in a heap upon the ground at the feet of Patrolman Sandman and Bicycle Patrolman Black. There was little need of the police pouncing upon him, for the man could not rise, having badly wrenched his back by the fall. With a cordon of police surrounding the house, the man inside surrendered and was taken to the Seventh District station, where he registered as Charles Martin, Pittsburgh.

The injured man is thought to be H. G. Sewell, aged 25, Chicago, and the one who gave his name as Martin is believed to be W. E. Mason. In the bundle which the men had prepared to carrry from Prof. Walker's desidence was found a quantity of jewelry and silverware taken from the residence of William Backuf, 2112 Madison avenue, near by, earlier in the day.

MINES CLOSED BY SMALLPOX.

Diphtheria Epidemic, Which Raged at Jefferson and Burnsville, Pa., Being Gotten Under Control.

GREENSBURG, PA., Aug. 18.—(Special.)—Many foreign miners, employed at the Edna No. 2 plant of the Pittsburgh and Baltimore Coal Company, where there is a smallpox epidemic, have left, and it was necessary to stop work at the plant this morning. No new cases have developed.

WAYNESBURG, PA., Aug. 18.—(Special.)—The epidemic of diphtheria at Jefferson, this county, has been brought under control by the physicians and the board of health and the disease has now almost entirely disappeared. Only one new case developed during the last week, that of a little son of Reed McMinn, who is not dangerously ill. The house in which George Morris lived, in whose family there were four deaths, was torn down and burned. The husband and two children removed to a tent, when the building was razed. The epidemic of diphtheria at Burnsville, Pa., where there were several deaths, is also receding.

VOLLEY OF BULLETS POURED ON TRAIN

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

ZEIGLER, ILL., Aug. 18.—Two wounded guards lying in the hospital—one shot in the neck, with both wrist and hand torn by buckshot; the other hit in the side by a mixed load from a shotgun—sum the casualties in the second battle with the strikers, which occurred today half a mile south of Christopher. The appearance of an Illinois Central special, carrying 26 miners and nine guards was awaited by the strikers concealed in a cornfield behind logs and stumps, just south of the switch on the Zeigler branch. Fire was opened on the approaching special in a scattering volley and continued for about five minutes. Especial effort seemed to be made to hit the engineer, as many shots missed him by only a few inches. Bullets ploughed into the hardwood covering of the coach and caboose at all angles, showing a heavy fire both on the approach and retirement of the train.

Shots were plainly heard in Zeigler. The train men returned under escort of United States deputies and Zeigler guards. The escort will remain with the train until it returns with another importation of laborers.

HALLAHAN HAS TROUBLE.

Failed to Lift His Note and Was Ejected from Alderman Brinker's Office in Allegheny.

Charles Hallahan, who wants to marry Edith Meyers of Scott street, Pittsburgh, had more trouble in Allegheny yesterday. It appears that he had no money on Wednesday afternoon with which to pay the costs in the suit he had entered against the Meyers woman before Alderman Brinker and secure her release. So he got the man for whom he was working, a Pittsburgh contractor, to go on his note for $15 and got the cash from Mollie Robinson of Scott street. The note was left in the care of Alderman Brinker, Hallahan promising to get the money yesterday so as to lift it.

After his trouble with the Meyers woman on the street car Wednesday afternoon he went to the contractor who had become his security and told him his troubles. The contractor said he must lift the note before he could go to work again for him.

Hallahan failed to get the money yesterday morning and wanted Alderman Brinker to give him back the note. The alderman refused to do so until the money was forthcoming, and it is alleged Hallahan became so abusive that the alderman called a policeman and had him ejected from the office. Hallahan went before several Allegheny aldermen and tried to enter suit against Brinker for the recovery of the note, but none of them would take the case. He says he will enter a new suit against the Meyers woman.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 18.—Mrs. Isabella Frazier Leopold, aged 45 years, a cousin of United States Senator McComas of Maryland, and daughter of the late State Senator Frazier of Ohio, was killed today by falling from a vestibule coach on the Atlantic City division of the Reading railway. The accident occurred at Magnolia, N. J. Mrs. Leopold in her fall struck a signal pole. Her skull was crushed and both arms and legs were broken. Mrs. Leopold was secretary to Postmaster General Charles Emory Smith during his administration and was also employed by the national Republican committee under Col. Charles Dick.

Police Lieut. Grimes Makes Sage Observations In Ireland

Police Lieut. Charles H. Grimes arrived home yesterday from a vacation spent at his old home in Carrick Muir, County Tyrone, Ireland. He brought home lathers of oat cake, a real shelalah and several fine blackthorn canes. As a result of his travels Lieut. Grimes is able to make the following observations:

"If you want to back up against the real skin game patronize a Belfast hotel. Here is my bill for one pound, two and nine pence. Underneath the head the clerk wrote: 'Paid with thanks.' Imagine an American putting on an indorsement like that. An honest man would never think of it.

"I have seen some fine officers abroad, but my hat is still off to the Yankee policeman, whether he's a descendant of the Irishman, Dutchman or Pole.

"America is the greatest country in the world.

"When you go to Europe take the fastest boat on the Atlantic. Our ship shot through the waves so fast that there was no time for her to heave and toss like slow craft do. She glided along like an express train running on soap.

"Ireland's sympathy is with the Japs. The Irish won't stand for the czar, because he's the foe of liberty—and Ireland, God bless her, is still putting up a good fight."

by Lafayette Baldwin of Shenango township. Baldwin was not close, but saw a stranger hurrying through the fields on his farm.

Warned by a Boy.

A young son of W. M. Bowden, a neighbor of Baldwin, was driving along a highway near his home late this afternoon, when he caught up to a stranger carrying a rifle, going in the same direction. The man asked to ride and wanted to sell young Bowden the rifle for $12. He told Bowden he had shot a policeman here last night and would give himself up if the officer wasn't dead. Young Bowden told Waite he had better keep from the road, if he did not wish to be captured, as he had seen the soldiers at the Brown home not far away looking for him only a short time before. Waite then jumped from the wagon and took to the fields.

J. M. Brown of Union township reported to police headquarters that he had met Waite on the road at Energy, six miles east of here, and two miles from the Baldwin and Bowden homes. Brown was just returning home from a trip, and then knew nothing of the murder. Isaac Newton of Ellwood City met the same stranger on the road whom Wimer saw. Newton talked with him and the stranger offered to sell his rifle. Newton realized he was talking with the murderer, but he concealed this knowledge by jocularly remarking that he must be the man who shot the policeman.

Admitted the Crime.

The man replied: "Well what's the use of denying it. I am. I will give myself up if the policeman is not dead, but if he is someone else will die too."

Cal. Wyman, a painter of Ellwood City, who formerly resided here and knows Waite personally, met him this afternoon at the Pleasant Hill store, three miles from Ellwood. They had a little conversation, but the murder was not mentioned. After talking a few moments Waite climbed a fence and took to the woods again.

He showed this evening at the home of Valentine Van Gorder, of near Pleasant Hill, where the Van Gorder family reunion was being held. He still carried his rifle and revolvers, and as he is a desperate man the unarmed merrymakers made no effort to capture him. He did not secure anything to eat there. The only places he is known to have secured food today were at the home of James Brown and William Houk. At the Brown home he admitted his identity and said he would have given himself up if one of the officers he shot was not dead.

Some Think Him Weak-Minded.

Many people believe Waite is weak-minded. It is remembered that he has always been eccentric in his habits. It is thought he is crazy, as he recklessly wandered through a thickly settled country near his home and appeared to so many people.

Councils will hold a special meeting tomorrow afternoon at city hall and offer a reward for the capture of the murderer, which will likely be paid if he is captured before this formal action is taken. The county commissioners will probably act in conjunction with councils regarding the reward.

Michael and Thomas Ryan, whom Mrs. Waite said last night were to have been implicated with her son in the chicken stealing are now both in jail. Michael Ryan was captured about last midnight and Thomas was arrested this morning as he was going home by Detective Marshall. He is supposed to have been with Waite last night and tells conflicting stories of his whereabouts then. Michael says he has not seen Waite since yesterday evening.

Skidmore's Funeral Tomorrow.

The funeral of Officer Skidmore will be held Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock, from the home of his father, Thomas Skidmore.

Officer Atkinson said today that Skidmore and himself entered the Waite home last night and found Waite sitting in the kitchen. Without a word Waite whipped out a 38-caliber revolver and shot, the first bullet striking Skidmore directly under the heart. The wounded officer dropped to the floor while Atkinson jumped forward and seized Waite's revolver in his left hand and attempted to club the murderer with his mace. Waite fired again, the ball striking Atkinson on the inside of the left calf, emerging five inches below on the outside. Both bones of the leg were shattered, the fracture extending into the knee, making a wound that may necessitate amputation. Atkinson dropped Waite's gun when he was shot, but drew his own and emptied every chamber at the retreating murderer, who also fired as he ran. Atkinson fell when he tried to follow Waite and one of the latter's bullets passed entirely through Atkinson's helmet.

James Madden, a watchman at the Allegheny Country club in Sewickley, notified the Allegheny authorities shortly after midnight last night that he had seen a man answering the description of Waite in Sewickley. Madden says the man got off the 5:10 o'clock train from Pittsburgh on the Fort Wayne road and entered a stable. The police do not place much credence in the story.

FIRE FOLLOWS EXPLOSION.

Millvale Tailor Shop Gutted, Causing Losses Aggregating $2,100.

As a result of a gas explosion in the tailor shop of S. Sherf, at 215 Grant avenue, Millvale, shortly before midnight last night, the building, a one-store frame structure, was gutted by fire and its contents destroyed, causing a loss of about $1,500. The three-story frame building adjoining it, occupied by Gerlach's meat store, was damaged to the extent of $600. Both buildings were owned by K. J. Vogel, and the insurance, it is stated, will completely cover the loss.

The stock of clothing in Sherf's tailor shop was totally destroyed and was partially insured. The tailor shop had been closed for the night. It is said that no lights were left burning in the place. At about 11:30 o'clock there was a terrific explosion. At the same moment flames burst from the windows, and almost in an instant the entire building was afire. The noise of the explosion brought hundreds to the place. The flames communicated to the Gerlach building, the third floor and roof of which were quickly on fire.

Demented Man Killed.

CUMBERLAND, MD., Aug. 18.—Casper Morgenwick, aged 31, of Washington, D. C., had been spending a vacation in Cumberland. With him were Profs. Kirschner and R. Blefus. It was noticed that Morgenwick's mind was failing and his companions started to bring him home. They got as far as Hancock today, when Morgenwick jumped off the train, and running down the track, was struck by another train and killed. His wife was in the party.

WILL USE TELEPHONE FOR TRAIN DISPATCHING

Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburgh Railroad Is to Adopt a New System.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Aug. 18.—Announcement was made this evening by officials of the Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburgh railroad that they had decided to equip their entire system with a telephone line. This telephone system, it is stated, is intended to eventually take the place of the telegraph for the transmission of orders for the movement of trains and such other orders concerning the business and management of the road as are now transmitted by telegraph.

The officials stated that some of the important roads of the country had tried the telephone and had found it satisfactory for the movement of trains. One of the reasons for the change is economy. With the telegraph system a telegraph operator is required at every station. Either the station agent must be a telegraph operator or a special operator has to be employed to handle the wire business. As soon as the telephones are installed and the system is in perfect working order, the official of the road who made the announcement said the telegraph operators would be discharged.

ADVANCE ON MUKDEN SEEMS TO BE ABANDONED

MERCHANTS TURN TO PITTSBURGH

Success of the "M. & M's" Inbound Excursion Next Week Is Now Assured.

BARGAINS AWAIT COMERS

"Count me in. I am coming to Pittsburgh."

This message, telephoned to Manager James W. Wardrop of the Merchants and Manufacturers' association from a mountain home 10 miles from any railroad station, is an index to the situation among the tradesmen throughout this section of the country.

They are coming to Pittsburgh the rest of this month by the hundreds, taking advantage of the low railroad fares, the special entertainments, the theater parties, the ball games, and above all of the trade bargains which the business men of this city will offer for the next two weeks.

The dates for the sale of these tickets are August 20, 21, 22, 23 and 24. The sales start tomorrow in every ticket office between the Atlantic ocean and the Mississippi river, and every merchant can secure for himself, his buyers and his family for the round trip a rate of only two-thirds the regular fare. The plan for arranging this has been explained in 100,000 circulars sent out by the "M. and M.," and in fully that many special editions of trade papers, circulars and letters issued by individual concerns.

Refunding Railroad Fares.

The traveling men, 2,000 strong, representing Pittsburgh houses, will be at home next week to meet the tradesmen in their lines and to aid him in every way possible. The association will keep open house in its handsome quarters on the fourteenth floor of the Keystone Bank building. Here will be stationed the special agents of the railroads, ready to issue the certificates entitling the associate members to the reduced fares.

Several of the concerns are offering a still larger refund of the railroad fare than that given by the railroads. The S. Hamilton Company announces that for purchases amounting to $100 all the railroad fare will be refunded. For purchases of a smaller amount a proportionate amount will be returned. The Pittsburgh Drygoods Company is offering a rebate of fare based on the distance from Pittsburgh. Other concerns are doing equally well. All have been making tempting offers of special bargains in their advertisements, and all look for an influx of merchants here such as was never seen before.

Social features galore will be offered. The Haworth & Dewhurst Co., Ltd., for instance, plans to take all its visiting friends to the ball game, and has reserved seats. A. J. Logan & Co. plan some special attractions. Luncheons, smokers, receptions, etc., will be tendered by various trade associations and individual concerns. The big event, which all the visitors are requested to join, is the evening performance on Wednesday at the Grand Opera house. Following the performance there will be a reception and lunch in the ball room of the Hotel Henry.

Big Reception Committee.

It is designed that no one of the visiting merchants shall be allowed to spend a dull moment here. A reception and entertainment committee of 41 members has been appointed, with F. R. Babcock as chairman, to carry out this feature of the program. The members of the committee are F. R. Babcock, chairman; F. R. Pearson, R. F. Duff, W. B. Wolfe, J. S. Wightman, H. C. Beggs, Charles L. Hamilton, William H. Hayes, A. J. Logan, James Riley, E. E. Bonneville, Otto Heeren, E. J. Lloyd, George A. Kelly, W. H. Neely, D. C. Shaw, W. T. Todd, James Flood, W. L. Rodgers, M. Oppenheimer, H. B. Lupton, Otto F. Feiler, C. W. Costello, Robert Garland, Edward Snodgrass, Jr.; Charles H. Ogden, George W. Stewart, James B. Arthur, G. W. C. Johnston, John H. Jones, J. A. Perley, A. G. Hartje, Alan K. Gillespie, W. B. Bryar, E. E. Baker, W. H. Chaddock, Wesley W. Crawford, J. H. Crutchfield, J. B. Flint, Samuel W. Houston and William F. Myers.

The active membership of the association is now 145. Its associate membership exceeds 1,200 and represents the states of New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, Maryland, Kentucky, Wisconsin and Alabama.

HOPES TO SAVE NEW CASTLE NEGRO INDUSTRIAL FARM

President Kincaid Says Closing of Institution Would Return Nine Children to the Juvenile Court.

The Rev. George W. Kincaid of New Castle, president and founder of the Pennsylvania Industrial School for Negroes, which is about to be closed through foreclosure proceedings, was in the city yesterday. He was formerly pastor of the John Wesley A. M. E. church in Arthur street.

Mr. Kincaid stated that he felt assured that the $1,000 necessary to save the institution would be forthcoming before Wednesday next, the last day of grace, and held that the same vicissitudes have always been met and overcome in all the colored industrial schools in the country.

"If the school is abandoned," said the pastor, "nine Allegheny county colored children, who are now happy farming, will be returned to the juvenile court. Some are orphans, others are crippled. They are: John Barnes, aged 15; James Kempjer, aged 13; Harold Fisher, aged 14; Levi Cross, aged 14; Robert Lockat, aged 10; May Thornton, aged 10; Raymond Pryor, aged 10; James McGuire, aged 15, and Ralph Jackson, aged 14. We have a well equipped farm of 150 acres, including much live stock and considerable produce. The farm can be saved for $1,000, and I hope the generous public will come to our assistance."

APPLICATION BLANKS ARE ISSUED BY TECH DIRECTOR

More Specific Information Is Asked as to the Desires of Many of the Prospective Students.

In order to secure a better classification of the applicants for instruction in the Carnegie Technical schools, Director Arthur A. Hamerschlag is sending to a large number of them a special application blank. This blank, when filled out, gives the information the director needs as to the previous instruction and the wishes of the candidate. Many of the applicants have already given sufficient information.

From the start of the work the plan followed by the director has been to model the schools after the needs of the community, as expressed by applications. There have been about 5,600 applications received and filed, and as these are classified it is found how many desire each kind of instruction.

Where the applications have not been specific on this point, the director has been unable to determine this essential, and it is for that reason that the present blanks are being issued. When returned they will be filed with the original application.

BIGELOW IS NOW DRIVING TEAM

HE CALLS A SPECIAL MEETING

Select council will meet again in special session next Monday. After Mayor Hays, Murry A. Verner, Director Bigelow and other leaders of the administration and Citizens party had held a conference yesterday, J. S. Wightman, president of select council, was notified that a meeting would have to be called, and Mr. Wightman immediately ordered the city clerk to send out the notices for 3 p. m. Monday.

Director Bigelow was astonished at the poor showing made by his forces in the special meeting held on Wednesday night, so he admitted yesterday. He had depended upon Verner to whip the select councilmen into line, and Verner told him that the bond sale ordinance and the traction franchises asked for by the Pittsburgh Railways Company would be passed under a suspension of the rules, a promise that was not fulfilled. As a result Bigelow yesterday took the reins, and after talking to several select councilmen his countenance cleared up and he said the ordinance was in good shape.

Even those members of select council who prevented the passage of the bond sale ordinance have not much hope that they can prevent its ultimate adoption. They will offer amendments at Monday's meeting, but expect to see them voted down.

"We can, however, prevent a suspension of the rules," said one member who fought the administration at the last meeting, "but I don't see how we can stop the ordinance from going through, if enough meetings are held. Just think of it—all the administration needs is a few members, and don't you suppose that the mayor and Bigelow, backed by the power of the Pittsburgh Railways Company, reinforced by the financial influence of four strong banks, can induce a few members of select council to vote the way those influences desire them to. Indeed, I think the mayor and Bigelow are poor managers if they cannot break down the opposition of three or four votes in council."

It was hinted yesterday that one or two of the men who prevented the ordinance from passing are "sore" because John Upperman seems to have been acknowledged by the administration as its spokesman on the floor of select council. One or two of the disgruntled ones believe that they themselves have talent as floor leaders, and they view with regret the power which Upperman and S. J. Wainwright, Jr., seem to have acquired by making themselves useful to the administration.

Verner is now consulting Upperman and Wainwright and a few other members of the old select council combine, and has thereby incurred the displeasure of members who were elected on the Citizens party's ticket, but are neglected by Leader Verner.

Controller Larkin yesterday said that, according to a report made by Allen Hazen, the filtration plant ought to cost no more than $3,000,000; therefore, Larkin argues, the administration intends to spend only about that amount of the filtration money and wants the rest merely to favor its pet banks.

Commended for His Courage.

Michael Leidemann, a private of the marine corps, stationed at the League Island navy yard, Philadelphia, and a native of Pittsburgh, has been highly commended by the commandant of the corps for bravery. While a sentry he discovered fire in the stables, and unaided managed to save 18 frantic horses from death. He will be promoted to corporal. He is a son of Leonard M. Leidemann of 616 Wylie avenue and has been a year in the service.

Special Values in Women's Handkerchiefs at 25c.

Frankly, madam, what sort of a handkerchief does twenty-five cents buy in a usual way? We leave the answer to you. Yet 25c is a very popular price to pay for a trimmed handkerchief.

In thinking over this fact we concluded to see what we could do in the way of a really fine Handkerchief for this price. Well we're ready with the results of our efforts. We feel quite complaisant over the matter and are anxious to have you see our 25c line as ready today and to have your views on the subject.

Imported handkerchiefs, if you please, all of finest linen, an immense variety, some finished with embroidery and hemstitching, again others with lace edgings and insertings.

The following at different prices:

At 25c and 35c each we are showing an exceptional line of women's sheer and medium sheer hemstitched linen handkerchiefs with hand-embroidered initials. These are extra fine.

At 12 1-2c each women's pure Irish linen handkerchiefs, nicely hemstitched. 18c would be nearer the value.

At 10c each women's handkerchiefs, pure linen hemstitched—quarter, half and one-inch borders. Laundered ready for use.

At 7c, 4 for 25c, those old-style 'kerchiefs, with broad corded or taped border. Pure linen, of course, and an extra large size. The kind of a handkerchief boys like.

Another Bulletin on Autumn Dress Woolens.

Heretofore we have confined our remarks chiefly to the heavier sort of materials for the coat suit, etc. Today we call your attention to a shipment of Newly Imported Eoliennes.

They are representative of the advance Autumn styles in woolens for gowns for dressy occasions and afternoon wear. We show this silk-and-wool fabric in biscuit, gray, emerald, tan, royal, mordore and cream. 44 and 47 inches wide, $1.00, $1.50, $2.00 and $2.50 a yard.

New Voiles $1.00 a yard. Just received an advance shipment from the manufacturer—tan, royal, castor, silver gray, russet brown, Havana brown, navy and cream. 44 inches wide.

Tourist Vigoreaux, one of the newest suitings, specially adaptable for traveling suits, or for seashore wear. Under ordinary conditions the price would be $1.00, but as we secured a concession from the manufacturer, we say in turn, 60c a yard. This figures about $3.00 saving on a dress pattern.

Imported Panama Suitings, regular $1.00 qualities for 68c a yard. The colorings are navy, marine, royal and black, the width is 43 inches.

New Suiting Serges, 50c a yard. Strictly all-wool and 43 inches wide. Brown, royal and navy blue.

Made Chiffon Veils, 25c and 50c.

The 25c price covers a lot of odds and ends in pretty Chiffon Veils that sold for 50c and $1.00 each. The colors are fashionable, and they are finished with neat embroidery and hemstitching. Thus the price represents from half to a quarter of original value.

The veils we offer today at 50c are made up of an assortment of our $1.00 and $1.50 Chiffon Veils. None are less than 1½ yards long. This is an offer altogether out of the usual.

Women's Suede Lisle Gloves, 35c Pair.

Or you can take 3 pairs for the dollar.

These are washable gloves, fit perfectly and look like suede kid. Two-clasp and two-button, black, white and all the fashionable colors.

As to their quality, the above price is made on our entire line of suede lisle gloves, including our 50c suede lisle, which was an unusual value at that figure. These gloves may be worn, well, in about any season of the year.

Men's Underwear, $2.50 Quality, $1.50 a Suit.

This is a special in the men's store for the end of the week. About this underwear we have to say that it is made to fit the form, which means solid comfort, a paramount point in Union underwear. Comes in white, soft finished lisle, and worth every cent of $2.50.

These union suits have half sleeves and ankle length drawers.

Half Off for Men's Belts.

And no other reason for the reduction than that we have too many of them.

Different kinds of leather, blacks and tans, different sorts of buckle fixings. It goes without saying they are all correct as to style.

The regular prices are from 50c to $1.00 each. Today select at half those figures.

Men's Half Hose, 3 Pairs for 50c.

25c a pair is the regular price, and they are a very excellent grade for that figure.

Black with neat figures in contrasting colors, also plain tan. Again we say it—men don't often have a chance to get such socks as these three pairs for the half dollar.

Friday, August 19, 1904.

The Gazette desires to call the attention of those of its readers who contemplate summer trips to the announcements of the many summer resort hotels published on page 12 of this issue.

Secretary of Agriculture Wilson has discovered a new use for the wireless telegraph. A trip through the west showed him that the government is in need of some plan to protect the forest preserves from fire, and he believes the question can be solved by the use of wireless telegraph signals which will work automatically. The plan, if it proves practical, will be of great value to the government. Careless campers cause the destruction of hundreds of acres of valuable timber annually, and the saving of timber would be worth far more than the cost of installing the system of automatic signals. Experts to whom Mr. Wilson has submitted his idea see no obstacle in the way of its success. The experiment may also be expected to develop other valuable ideas for the use of wireless telegraphy.

The great prosperity of the Pittsburgh mining district is shown by the heavy shipments of coal to the lake ports to be transported to the northwest. While much of the activity at present is due to the fact that the northwest lake trade was delayed earlier in the season by the marine strike the increase over the shipments of last year indicates that the season's total will show a considerable increase. The gain in July alone was about 4,000 carloads, and at present we are sending 350 carloads daily above last year's average. The mines are now running full time, and the employes are feeling the result of steady work in the full pay envelopes they receive. The demand for coal is one of the barometers of trade, and present conditions indicate a busy fall and winter for the northwest.

The dismissal of Policeman Dachroth from the Allegheny force will have no effect in the graft cases. These cases are now in the hands of the district attorney, and the people of Allegheny will not be satisfied until they are probed to the bottom. Such charges are not new in Allegheny, but never before have they been made so directly as to call for as full investigation as they do now. Heretofore they have been little more than rumors, now they come with a member of the force, who should know what he is talking about, behind them. He should be able to place the evidence in the hands of the district attorney in such shape that there will be little trouble in bringing the affair to a direct issue. The dismissal of Dachroth may have been technically legal, but it looks like punishment inflicted because he divulged graft secrets.

Judge Parker now seems inclined to listen to the loud call for his presence in the west. While he has not announced his plans, there is a feeling in Esopus that he cannot resist the attempt to regain what has already been lost to him through the failure of the St. Louis platform makers to build something for him to stand on. He is now able to realize the position in which he has been placed, and, with defeat staring him in the face, would make an effort to at least make a creditable showing. But he will be fighting a losing battle in the west. Every report that comes from that section of the country indicates that the Bryan followers are disgruntled, and that the Democracy is disorganized and demoralized. These reports come from silver Democrats as well as from Republicans, and all agree that the popularity of the president in that section is an added reason for the belief that the west will go solidly to the Republican ticket. The prediction of General Grosvenor that the Democrats will not have an electoral vote west of the Alleghenies and north of the Ohio, with the possible exception of six, looks very reasonable.

The death of Sam Parks, the notorious New York labor leader, who was sent to prison on a charge of extortion, does not seem to have completely cleared the unions of men of his kind. An indictment has just been secured against Philip Weinseimer, leader of the New York building trades strike, who is accused of extorting $1,000 from George Essig, a plumber. Such cases prove that the greatest need of labor unions is the ability to secure leaders who can withstand the temptation to place their own gain ahead of the cause of unionism. Weinseimer has not yet been tried, and may not be convicted, but his indictment serves to call attention to the number of such cases that have developed in the past few years. They do the cause of unionism more harm than any other charge. If the leaders of the unions are not honestly trying to better the condition of the workingmen, but are only seeking to satisfy their own greed, the entire cause of unionism will rapidly fall into disrepute, no matter how high its aims may be. The only remedy is a more careful selection of leaders.

A new development in the fraud in naturalization papers has been unearthed in New York. A band of conspirators has been discovered in Waterbury, Conn., which has issued papers to men who have never even visited this country, under which they hoped to secure the protection of the United States while carrying on business in various South American republics, where revolutions and general lawlessness make existence very hazardous. How far this fraud has been carried has not yet been discovered, but it is easy to see how gladly wealthy business men would invest a few hundred dollars in an effort to secure the protection of United States ministers and even battleships in places where little attention is paid by the local governments to the security of life and property. Undoubtedly there have been cases in the past when the United States have given protection to men who had no valid right to it, but in most cases these alleged citizens had lived in this country just long enough to become naturalized citizens for purely business reasons. It is one of the difficulties of our naturalization system, and we cannot escape occasionally giving these people the assistance they desire but do not merit. The effect of the discovery of the Waterbury fraud will undoubtedly be to cause a complete investigation and a greater watchfulness in the naturalization of immigrants. And papers that have been secured by fraud will be canceled as rapidly as discovered.

Making Bad Worse.

In endeavoring to square itself with its party for unwittingly publishing an exposure of the humbug of the extravagance cry of the St. Louis platform, the Post tangles itself up in a wonderful coil of blunders. It tries to blunt the force of figures given in its own columns by arguing that the proper way to consider the case is by a comparison between national expenditures under Democratic administration and what they are now. It proceeds to give figures so grossly inaccurate that their source must have been its own rampant imagination. Their romantic character is plainly indicated in the following statement:

"President Roosevelt assumed power September 14, 1901, and as soon as he became firmly established the increase of expenditures beyond the McKinley expenditures went up with leaps and bounds. It was bred in the bone. The total expenditures for the four years of his incumbency, actual and estimated, were $211,407,628 greater than the staggering amount under the four years of McKinley, though he conducted the Spanish war, and—mark these figures—greater by $888,624,862 than during the four years of the Cleveland administration."

These amounts are not near so staggering as the ability of the Post to put four years' expenditures into a term which began less than three years ago, and the figures it gives are as absurd as its calculations. As a matter of fact the expenditures of the last three fiscal years are less than the preceding three by $42,695,768. They exceed those of President Cleveland's administration and there is good reason for it. There are twenty millions more of people in the United States now than then, and the government does more and does it better, but the fact may be recalled that in that period, 1893-7, to which the Post refers as an example of Democratic economy, the expenditures of the government amounted to $155,864,185 more than the receipts, the bonded debt was increased by $262,000,000, and the commercial failures of the four years aggregated $919,064,939 in liabilities. The sort of economy which makes both the government and business interests go broke will not prove inviting to the American people.

Race War Consequences.

The readiness of southern communities to substitute race war for individual punishment of offenders in regular course of justice is having its natural consequences. There is no way of keeping the race war business on one side, and the negroes are liable to try their hands at it too. From Alabama comes the report that the killing of three whites has followed the lynching of a negro and retaliatory crime and violence are still going on in widening circles. In Bulloch county, Georgia, where the mob took prisoners out of the court room and burned them at the stake, bands of regulators are scouring the country whipping negroes and driving them from their homes. In such lawless operations personal spite has easy opportunities for gratifying itself. Negroes whose only offense is that they have excited some one's dislike, may be as severely punished as if they had been guilty of some serious crime. Later on the cry will come out of scarcity of labor in the cotton fields. All through the cotton regions of the south there is continual complaint of this character, and it is just in those regions that race wars are most frequent. Conventions are held to discuss the question of labor supply, and yet it is evident that the planters do not know how to protect labor when they have it. They will make the first practical step toward the solution of the labor problem when they put down lynch law. It will be known that they have begun to do so when the news arrives that a mob of lynchers has been fired upon, and that respect for law has been drilled into them by bullets.

Readjusting Steel Prices.

The iron market is passing through one of those familiar periods when something of a deadlock occurs between buyers and sellers, and professional sellers in the stock market are trying to create the impression that the industry is on the verge of demoralization. Prior to 1900, when the trade was less completely organized than at present, the solution of a deadlock was an open market. The necessities of the individual producer became so pressing there was a break in trade agreements, and an era of demoralization in prices ensued. The proceedings were analagous to the railroad rate wars of the '70s and '80s. The most noteworthy exhibition of the kind in the iron trade occurred in 1897, when the ore, steel billet, beam and rail pools were suddenly dissolved and neither buyer nor seller could make future contracts based upon a stable price.

The announcement yesterday of a cut in the price of some wire and steel products has been seized upon by Wall street as the basis for predictions of a "go-as-you-please" contest for business by the large producers. The reason for Wall street's particular interest in the situation is that the shares of the various iron and steel corporations are quoted in the stock market, and if demoralization is to ensue, then the value of these shares would decline. Professional speculators have already sold enormous amounts of these shares for future delivery, and hope to frighten the public into selling so that they can cover their own contracts at a profit.

The iron market is far from being in a satisfactory position, because demand is far smaller than producing capacity, but there is no reason to fear a repetition of the demoralization of 1897. Present industrial and commercial conditions represent a natural reaction from the abnormal conditions prevailing two years ago. If the policy of the United States Steel Corporation as enunciated at the beginning of its career is maintained, prices for steel products will be readjusted to changed conditions, if in the judgment of the management those conditions appear to be permanent and not transitory; but there will be no return to the methods which proved so destructive a score of years ago. In the first preliminary report submitted to stockholders of the United States Steel Corporation the policy as to prices was formally stated as follows:

"The demand for the products of the several companies has been so great that prices could easily have been advanced. Indeed, higher prices have been voluntarily offered by consumers who were anxious for immediate execution of orders, but the companies have firmly maintained the position of not advancing prices, believing that the existing prices were sufficient to yield a fair return on capital and maintain the properties in satisfactory physical condition, and that the many collateral advantages to be gained in the long run by refusing to advance prices would be of substantial and lasting value, not only to the companies, but also to the general business interests of the country. The strong position thus taken by the companies for stability in prices, both of raw material and finished products, has had a reassuring effect on the trade, and has contributed greatly toward restoring confidence in the general business situation and creating the present large demand for steel products by dispelling any doubt as to prices in the future."

The soundness of the principles underlying the Steel Corporation's organization is still on trial. During the greater part of its career it has been able to maintain its policy as outlined above because natural conditions were favorable. Now these conditions have changed, and with the change comes the test of the corporation's ability to meet them in the same liberal spirit as manifested in its original policy. In the opinion of many—certainly in that of consumers—prices of finished products are too high. Enterprise is held in abeyance awaiting concessions. A reasonable reduction in prices to conform to present conditions would undoubtedly lead to a great increase in the volume of business, not only in iron and steel, but in related industries. Railroad traffic would be favorably affected, and the purchase of material by the railroads would help along the revival of trade. Money is plentiful, the crop yield will be above the average, and the outlook is favorable.

Used to Be a Robber Himself.

In eulogizing the St. Louis platform as a matter of party duty both the Democratic candidates had to dismiss some inconvenient memories. Judge Parker declared the platform to be "admirable," although he had to put in a financial plank of his own in order to find standing room upon it. Mr. Davis found it "sane, safe and sound," although it denounces "protection as a robbery of the many to enrich the few."

Mr. Davis is on record as being in favor of such robbery. There is a great deal of interest in the tariff in West Virginia, particularly as regards the coal and lumber duties. When he was in the senate himself Mr. Davis was a protectionist, and was not afraid to say so. In the last important speech he delivered in the senate chamber, he said:

"I am for a tariff that will yield sufficient revenue for the economical and proper expenditures of the government, and in that tariff I believe incidental protection to our own industries is right and proper. It has been so regarded from the foundation of the government; it ought to be so now."

It is understood that before he bowed to the instructions of the St. Louis platform Mr. Davis held to the doctrine laid down by Hancock, that "the tariff is a local issue," and he was keen enough in seeking protection for the local interests of West Virginia. And now the old gentleman has to confess that he was a robber. Thus one lives and learns even in the eighties. The irony of the situation exceeded anything which Congressman Williams touched upon in his labored effort in political satire.

John A. McCall, president of the New York Life Insurance Company, and Maj. John Byrne, former president of the Democratic honest money league, have declared for Roosevelt. It is nearing the time when New York may safely be removed from the doubtful to the Republican column.

Kipling's "absent-minded beggar" has been found in New York. He was arrested for bigamy, and told the judge that he had forgotten all about the first wife.

The Japanese are now said to be within two miles of Port Arthur. They are not moving as fast as the Russians said they would, nor in the same direction.

The Allegheny policeman who made the graft charges has been discharged for insubordination. This leaves the public to draw its own conclusions.

Talked of in Gotham

By ALEXANDER DODDS.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—The dream of many years at last has come and no longer is it idle talk to say, "From the Battery to Harlem in 15 minutes." This has really been accomplished in a secret test of the new subway that has been promised to the public on the first of next month. While a good many of the citizens were in bed last night a train bearing some of the big officials of the road made this required speed and it is said that when the road is in actual running order that a minute more will be saved from this phenomenal time. There were several trial trips made before the supreme test of the night was started. This was shortly after 10 o'clock. It was a fully manned train of four cars, the same as will be operated in actual service. The officials with stop watches sat silent and watched the speed register as it indicated the rate attained.

From the Battery to Harlem may sound a long distance, but in reality it is just about equal to a trip to Pittsburgh's East End from the downtown section, but the fact that fills the New Yorker with joy is that the trip was accomplished in about one quarter of the time that is now required to make the journey uptown. The greatest secrecy has been maintained by the road officials concerning the trip, but it is understood today that everything was eminently satisfactory. The school for motormen which has been established by the officials holds daily sessions and it is said that already there are a number of men who are ready to take trains out upon the system as soon as it is opened for passenger traffic.

McDonald Makes a Caddie His Clerk.

Because he proved a good caddie for John B. McDonald, the subway contractor who is playing at the Oakland golf links, Morris Kluger, 16 years old, has been made confidential clerk to the man who beat his contract for the completion of the big underground system here by three weeks. Kluger, it is said, was one of the brightest boys at the links and soon became the favorite of Mr. McDonald, Charles Murphy, the leader of Tammany, and several other well-known men.

However, whenever the contractor appeared he had the undivided attention of his young protege. One day this week Mr. McDonald inquired about his home life and when the boy told him he was the only support of his mother and a younger brother, he was asked how he would like to come to the city and work in an office. That was the start of Kluger's future and now he has a desk in Mr. McDonald's private office and devotes his time to the contractor's mail.

Tailors Have Rush Orders for White Suits.

The few really swell tailors here this morning received rush orders for white satin knee pants and swallowtail coats from a number of their customers who are summering at Newport. The rush is the result of an edict that all those who wish to accept the invitation of Mrs. Herman Oelrichs to her white ball on Friday night must go so attired. Society first attempted to revolt against such an order, but the hostess felt herself sufficiently intrenched in the social swim to say, "Wear the white or send regrets." The men are much disturbed over the affair and there are several about the clubs here today, who, it is said, slipped into town to give their measure. None would admit they intended to wear the "uniform" called for in the invitations. One Fifth avenue tailor has a roll of the shimmering satin in his window today, a silent invitation to the select to come in.

Mammoth Freight Boat to Be on Exhibition.

For two days the intermediate passenger and cargo steamer Minnesota will be on exhibition in this harbor and New Yorkers will have an opportunity to examine the largest ship of its kind ever built in American waters. Of course, the two great White Star line boats, the Baltic and Cedric, are larger, but the Minnesota, which is a freighter, is considered the queen of the seas. Yesterday the leviathan was towed from the yards at Groton, Conn., to the outer bay and on Sunday she will be brought up to the Battery and placed on exhibition. On Wednesday she is scheduled to sail for Newport News to take on a cargo of coal consigned for Seattle by way of Cape Horn. The vessel is 630 feet long and 73 feet beam and 56 feet from keel to upper deck, she having nine decks in all.

Girl Paralyzed by Hearty Laugh.

Paralyzed by a laugh, Miss Elizabeth Bath of Mount Vernon is only now beginning to recover her power of speech after suffering five weeks, during which time she was almost totally helpless. While visiting an aunt in Manhattan Miss Bath discussed with a party of young friends some amusing Fourth of July experiences. One story was so funny that she burst into a hearty laught and in her emotion burst an artery in her brain. She dropped to the floor unconscious and totally paralyzed. At the end of the third week she partially recovered her voice and was able to speak in a whisper. She is now conscious, but is partly paralyzed, and it is doubtful if she will ever fully recover the use of her muscles and the sweet voice for which she was noted.

Her Body Only Was With Them.

"I'm tomin' down, too," cried little Grace Stoddard, a year and a half old, as she saw her sister and several other children at play in the yard below the fire escape on the third floor where she stood. Waving her tiny hands in glee, she stepped off and fell to the ground. Arms were outstretched to catch her, but she fell through them and was picked up dead.

Judge Parker's Prolixity.

Judge Parker seems partial to the long sentence. He begins his speech with one of 73 words, which is certainly far above the average. This is immediately followed by sentences containing 39, 73, 40, 68 and 185 words. This is an average of 79 words each for the first six sentences. Scattered through the speech are sentences containing 66, 104, 61, 102, 83, 94, 66, 103, 110, 70, 67, 49 and 61 words. There are, as we count, 3,908 words in the address, and 81 sentences, which gives an average of a little over 48 words to the sentence. This is quite unusual. —Indianapolis News.

New Use for Bible

THE STROLLER.

Mastering French, German, Italian and other tongues by means of the Bible, while not generally known, is now much in vogue by studious Pittsburghers, while many foreigners within the county limits are familiarizing themselves with the English language by the same method.

Economy and practibility are as much the occasion for this novel method of tuition as hunger for righteousness. Religious publication societies, spurned on by the demands of the ever increasing work in home and foreign mission fields, have reached a high pinnacle in the art of serving the scriptures in such myriad forms as to make them accessible to all mankind. Aside from the translation into all tongues and dialects, a popular issue of the work is one which, in the trade, is known as the "side by side." These Bibles run two columns to the page, one column being a translation into another language in the column beside it.

This offers an opportunity for the study of language that is too apparent for comment, but notwithstanding the manifold combinations which this method of translation affords, all are sold at an average nominal price of 20 cents each. The Young Men's Bible society of Allegheny county distributes many of these books here, gratuitously when need be, and even offers single "books" of the Bible for as low as a cent apiece.

Recently a student in French observed one of these "side by side" French and English editions and was attracted by its usefulness in pursuing his studies. He communicated this fact to his instructor who conducts a school in the East End. When the price was made known the instructor at once issued orders for the whole class, numbering 32, to purchase copies.

While it is but recent that Pittsburghers have been bestowing increasing patronage to the Bible houses, the trade from foreigners endeavoring to make their wants known in English have been one of the mainstays of the business. Chinese, upon information from their brethren who have been gathered under the sheltering wing of the Sunday school, that a Bible with Chinese and English side by side could be purchased for the price of laundering a shirt, are developing into linguists, while non-churchgoing immigrants of all nationalities can be found in all sections of the county earnestly devouring the scriptures against their inclination, spiritually, but nevertheless with enwrapped interest.

The Polite Stranger.

They boarded an inbound Atwood street car in Boquet street. Both were women, the one near middle age, the other some years younger. All seats in the car were occupied and they managed to squeeze themselves into one of the compartments and retain an upright position. The elder woman took her stand directly in front of an old man who had been fortunate in procuring a seat. Scarcely had the car started when the old man made an effort to rise in his seat.

"No, no!" cried the elderly woman, placing her hand softly upon his shoulder, "you just remain seated. I'm better able to stand than you."

He appeared to insist and made greater effort to rise.

"But I won't have it," said the woman in determination. "That's all right; I haven't far to go anyway."

He mumbled inaudibly and seemed further actuated to leave the seat with every refusal on the part of the woman. Finally, as if endowed with superhuman strength, he pushed her aside and bounded to his feet, shrieking, "For heaven's sake, madam, let me get up; you've had 'em carry me five blocks out of the way already."

Girls to the Rescue.

A local newspaper man was the fortunate recipient several days ago of an invitation to spend a day in the country. Realizing the novelty of posing for the admiration of the lassies of the rural district he accepted the proposition and on Sunday hied himself thither. Among some of the guests who had been invited to enjoy the privileges of the occasion in inspecting a real, live, city reporter, were a bevy of young women from a neighboring seminary. When the time drew near for the arrival of the second and last train to the city, the reporter rushed to a room allotted him and gathered together his effects into his dress suit case, took particular care to leave his wallet out, that his railroad ticket might be in easy reach.

The home going lost much of its usual pathetic sentiment in the fact that the bevy of college girls would accompany the young man a portion of the way to their college town. Everything was lovely—even the train was on time. The gloom appeared when the conductor came around for the tickets. The young man tried all his pockets twice and went through the dress suit case several times. No ticket. No wallet. It had been left in the house.

"Ticket or fare, please," said the conductor impatiently.

The reporter had neither. The girls paid his fare to the next station and handed him enough to go back on. Thus is another ideal ruthly shattered.

Reporter Escapes Jail.

If a certain local newspaper man had not been swifter of foot than a Hungarian woman who called at the jail for her husband last week, he might have been returned to that institution as an escaped felon. The woman had applied at the jail door with a release for her husband whom she had had imprisoned on a charge of non-support. Immediately after she had told her mission at the door to one of the attendants and had handed in the writ of release two reporters were ushered out by one of the turnkeys, it being the established precaution to lock the iron doors on every occasion. The woman believing that the turnkey was bringing out what purported to be her husband, exclaimed:

"Why that is not my husband."

Taking the cue, one of the men, pointing to the other, remarked:

"He is the only man by that name we have."

Following the reporter down Grant street, she cried after him, "Come back here. They let the wrong man out. He's not my husband."

The unfortunate woman's position was only made clear after her husband, having been released, became the third party in the chase, overtaking his wife, and explained the situation.

FABLES FROM THE NEWS.

Dan Cupid angrily Packed his Trunk and called to the Clerk for his Bill.

"What is Wrong?" inquired the Proprietor of the Seaside Hotel, rushing upon the Scene.

"Why you have put me clean out of Business," replied Dan. "If a Fellow cannot Kiss a Girl in this dingy old Resort, what is the use of me being Around? My whole Game is Ruined."

Which proves that Some People do not know what a Summer Resort is made for.

"What's up?" asked a Friend. "Seems to me you're Getting to be Quite a Dude."

"Nothing Doing on the Dude Business," replied Pitt. "But the M. & M. excursionists are coming and I'm preparing to Put my Best Foot Forward."

IT IS TO SMILE.

"Art is long," pensively prattled the long-haired connoisseur at the picture gallery.

"Yes," replied the Philistine, who happened to be standing before the portrait of the Duchess de Corpulence. "And sometimes it is as broad as it is long."—Cincinnati Commercial Tribune.

"My gracious, old man, you look as if you were all tired out. What's the matter? Why don't you take a couple of weeks off?"

"That's what I've been doing, but I struck a place where even the hotel clerk was a woman."—Chicago Record-Herald.

"Which do you think is better," asked the thoughtful girl, "wealth or social position?"

"My dear," answered Miss Cayenne, "with money to give entertainments you can get into the society column, but aristocratic origin does not necessarily insure mention in the financial news."—Washington Star.

GEN. BLACKMAR IS COMMANDER

Boston Veteran Unanimously Elected to Head Grand Army of Republic.

S. O. V. PETITION REJECTED

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

BOSTON, Aug. 18.—Gen. Wilmon W. Blackmar of this city was elected commander-in-chief of the Grand Army of the Republic by acclamation at the closing session of the national encampment today, and Denver, Col., was selected for the encampment in 1905.

The other national officers elected were: Senior vice commander-in-chief, John R. King, Washington, D. C.; junior vice commander, George W. Patten, Chattanooga, Tenn.; surgeon general, Dr. Warren N. King, Indianapolis; chaplain-in-chief, Rev. J. H. Bradford, Washington, D. C.

Later Gen. Blackmar made the following appointments: Adjutant general, John E. Gilman, Massachusetts; quartermaster general, Charles Burrows, New Jersey; assistant quartermaster general and custodian of the records, J. Henry Holcomb, Pennsylvania; assistant adjutant general, E. B. Stillings, Massachussetts.

The G. A. R. convention was adjourned sine die shortly after 3 o'clock this afternoon. The principal business was the passage of the resolutions declaring that any modification of the voting franchise should be along lines of "intelligence and fitness, and not along lines of race and color," non-approval of the admission of Sons of Veterans to secret G. A. R. meetings and the laying on the table of a resolution regarding the proposed fraternal convention of the survivors of the union and confederate armies.

In the afternoon the Grand Army delegates made a pilgrimage to Lexington and Concord in automobiles.

The following organizations met during the day and elected or completed their election of officers:

Ladies of the G. A. R.—President, Mrs. Mary T. Hagar of Chicago; first vice-commander, Emma S. Pierce, Springfield, Mass.; junior vice-commander, Mrs. Ellen Watkins, Ohio; treasurer, Miss Julia Gordon, Kansas; chaplain, Mrs. Ada Shannon, Pennsylvania; national council of administration, Mrs. Maria Sawyer, Maine; Mrs. Rosch, Pennsylvania, and Mrs. J. C. McClure, Illinois.

Union Veterans' Union—Maj. Gen. D. W. Gould, Chelsea, commander-in-chief; first deputy commander-in-chief, Col. Richard Gorman, St. Paul, Minn; second deputy, E. A. Fenton, Washington, D. C.; surgeon-general, W. H. Gerth, Chelsea; chaplain, B. F. Miller, New York.

Women's relief corps completed election of officers as follows: Mrs. Mary M. Fair, South Dakota, senior vice president; Mrs. Lydia Oldroid, Washington, D. C., junior vice president; Mrs. Sarah E. Phillips, Syracuse, N. Y., treasurer; Mrs. Hannah U. Maxon, Ohio, national chaplain. National executive board: Mrs. Jennie S. Wright, Ohio, chairman; Mrs. Olive A. Killeen, Colorado; Mrs. May T. Jones, California; Mrs. Alice Gilman, Maine, and Dr. Orpha Bruce, Florida. The convention voted that $1,000 be given annually to the support of Andersonville prison.

Women's Veterans' Relief Union—Mrs. Ella Craft, Rochester, N. Y., re-elected president; Mrs. Mary A. Blodgett, Chilton, Iowa, senior vice president; Mrs. H. J. Earle, Brockton, junior vice president; Mrs. Emma V. Beck, Washington, Pa., national chaplain and Mrs. Marion W. Rose, St. Paul, Minn., national conductor.

National Association of Army Nurses—Elections completed as follows: Senior vice president, Mrs. Price, Lancaster, Pa.; junior vice president, Mrs. Nannie Cochran, Troy, N. Y.; treasurer, Mrs. Salome M. Stewart, Gettysburg, Pa.; chaplain, Mrs. Lydia F. Johnson, Lydonville, N. Y.; conductor, Mrs. Mary L. Gardner, Bellwood, Pa.; guide, Mrs. Mary E. Lacey, Rahway, N. J.

The last of the great official celebrations in connection with the annual encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic was held tonight, when 10,000 persons attended the camp fire of the Woman's Relief corps in Mechanics building. Mrs. Mary L. Gilman presided. Speakers were Gov. Bates, Mayor Collins, Commander-in-Chief Blackmar, Miss Clara Barton, Mrs. Annie D. Warne, department president Massachusetts W. R. C.; Gen. John C. Black, past commander-in-chief G. A. R.; Mrs. Sarah D. Wiens, past president W. R. C., and Lucius Field, department commander Massachusetts G. A. R.

Among the attractions arranged in honor of the members of the G. A. R. the electrical parade tonight was the most spectacular. This parade was called by the general title "The Parade of the Nation," and consisted of 16 illuminated floats representing epochs memorable in the history of the country.

The Woman's Relief corps at a meeting tonight filled the two vacancies on the Andersonville prison board by the election of Past National President Mrs. Sarah D. Winans of Troy, O., for the long term, and Mrs. Annie P. Cleary of Rochester, N. Y., for the short term. The convention adjourned to meet next year in Denver.

REFUSES TO COMPROMISE WEST VIRGINIA FIGHT

Gaines Faction Rejects Plans of Republican National Executive Committee.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

CHARLESTON, W. VA., Aug. 18.—The fight in the Republican ranks over the nomination for congress from the Third district goes on, notwithstanding the efforts of the national Republican executive committee and the national Republican congressional committee to close the breach by plans for harmony, submitted several days ago through National Committeeman Senator N. B. Scott, who along with the two committees view with alarm the stormy situation in the district and the possibility of a Democratic successor being elected to Congressman Gaines' seat.

Ex-Gov. Atkinson, at the instance of Senator Scott, several days ago proposed two plans to Candidates William S. Edwards and Joseph H. Gaines, whereby the difference existing might be harmonized, one plan being to submit the matter to arbitration and the other to call primaries in Kanawha and Fayette, the two largest counties in the district, the one receiving the majority of the votes cast to be declared the party nominee. Mr. Edwards promptly signified his willingness to abide by the result of either plan, but Mr. Gaines, or rather his friends and supporters, will not accept either of the proposed plans. The nominating convention will meet at Hinton, on Saturday and rival delegates will be present from Kanawha, Fayette, Clay, Summers and the other counties in the district. The feeling is bitter between the two factions, and the chances are that there will be two Republican candidates.

C. C. DONOVAN IS CHOSEN PRESIDENT OF HIBERNIANS

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

ERIE, PA., Aug. 18.—After a most spirited contest lasting from early in the afternoon until late this evening the state convention of the Ancient Order of Hibernians elected the following officers: President, the Hon. C. C. Donovan, Scranton; vice president, Thomas F. Sullivan, Erie; secretary, John P. Gibbons, Hudson; treasurer, L. P. Horan, Allegheny; chaplain, Rev. J. F. Fielding, Oil City.

The slate agreed upon before the convention was smashed except as to the office of president. There is no doubt but that Altoona will get the biennial convention of 1906. The only other business of importance transacted today was a large number of changes in the state by-laws to correspond to the national by-laws. A majority of the delegates will remain here for tomorrow's big picnic at Grove House park and a goodly number will go to Niagara Falls. The big parade tonight was a creditable affair, but was not so large as it would have been had the convention not been in session.

The Ladies' auxiliary to the Ancient Order of Hibernians, which has been in session here since Tuesday, finished its work and adjourned sine die this afternoon. It will meet in the same city as the main body in 1906. Before adjourning the old officers were re-elected as follows: President, Miss Anna C. Malia, Scranton; vice president, Miss Mary Lavelle Shamokin; secretary, Miss Mary Grogan, Philadelphia, and treasurer, Miss Annie DeSwan, Mannayunk.

Mr. and Mrs. Antonio Grillo were killed in an explosion of dynamite at Portage in February, 1903. The alleged perpetrator, Carmine Grillo, fled to Italy and was arrested.

If no word arrives by Saturday Mr. and Mrs. Demaras will sail for Italy in search of their son.

ANNUAL REUNION IS HELD AT BRUSH CREEK CHURCH

Large Number of People Journey to Old Structure—History of Congregation Told.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

IRWIN, PA., Aug. 18.—People for miles around made a pilgrimage to historic old Brush Creek church today to attend the annual reunion. The morning was spent in greeting old friends and a big basket dinner was provided at noon. The exercises took place in the afternoon in the old church.

Rev. U. C. Gutelius of Irwin delivered an address on "Then and Now." The history of the famous Reformed congregation was recited. A few German families held services at their houses in the pioneer days of 1780. The first pastor, Rev. J. W. Webber, came across the Alleghenies as a missionary and remained in charge of the congregation nearly a third of a century. The first log church and school house combined, built about 1790, was burned by the Indians and a second log church did service until 1820, when the present brick structure was dedicated. The second address was made by Rev. Dr. F. Truxal of Meyersdale. He spoke on "The Spirit of the Day," dwelling on these reunions that bring the descendants of the pioneers together for a day to hear recounted the struggles of their forefathers. "My Country, 'Tis of Thee," sung by all present, ended the reunion.

Foreigner Pursued by Bank President.

CONNELLSVILLE, PA., Aug. 18.—(Special.)—A foreigner attempted to pass Austrian counterfeit bills in the Kail bank today, asking to have the money changed to American dollars, but the clerk declared it counterfeit. The stranger grabbed it and made off, with F. A. Kail, the president of the bank, in hot chase. The foreigner was not captured. About this same time and before the Kail bank could notify the Rutsek foreign bank, a stranger made an exchange of Austrian money amounting to $32. Mr. Kail, upon examining the money, declared that it was counterfeit, and a later test proved it to be so.

JOHNSTOWN, PA., Aug. 18.—(Special.)—Lyman D. Gilbert, trustee, has conveyed to the Wilmere-Songman Coal Company 72 tracts of land in Summerhill and Croyle townships, Cambria county, comprising between 4,500 and 5,000 acres. It is understood that the territory will be opened up in the near future. Most of the stockholders of the company live in Harrisburg. The property was paid for with $100,000 worth of stock of the coal company.

Unfortunate Tenth Man Fatally Hurt.

WAYNESBURG, PA., Aug. 18.—(Special.)—Vernon Kelley of Waynesburg was fatally injured by a fall of slate in a coal mine Wednesday evening. His back was broken. Kelley served in Company K, Tenth regiment, in the Philippines and was wounded in battle. Upon his return home from the war he accidentally killed a young Waynesburg girl by carelessly snapping a revolver, which he supposed was not loaded.

Election Declared Illegal.

ALLIANCE, O., Aug. 18.—(Special.)—The recent election held in this city under the Brannock law, and which was won by the "drys," forcing out of the district 12 saloons, was today declared illegal by Probate Judge Aungst of Stark county. Defects in the boundary line were the grounds on which the decision was founded.

Man Who Killed Son Is in Jail.

CLEARFIELD, PA., Aug. 18.—(Special.)—Dennis Sheehan of Curwensville, who killed his son, Fremont Francis Sheehan, last evening, was brought to jail here this morning. He says he shot his son in self-defense. Two revolvers were found on his person.

DIME NOVEL READING FIEND BINDS BOY AND WELTS HIM

Child Is Maltreated and Left Tied to a Tree in the Woods Fifteen Hours.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

POTTSVILLE, PA., Aug. 18.—Gagged, blindfolded and tied to a tree for 15 hours, after he had been welted with a carriage whip from head to foot, was the experience of Harold Breunan, aged 7, who is in a serious condition.

Last evening shortly before dusk Brennan, with the whip and a long strap, started to bring home a cow. Nicholas Lombel, aged 16, a confirmed dime novel reader, met the boy and took him to an isolated spot in the woods and tied him to a tree, using the strap for the purpose. This was at 7 o'clock last evening. A searching party looking for the boy came very close to him several times, but every time he moved his companion belabored him with the whip. After maltreating him in a frightful manner, Lombel left him. Brennan remained tied fast to the tree until almost noon today, when a passing miner released him.

A game of ball between Hartstown and the Youngstown wheelmen resulted in a score of 9 to 8 in favor of the former.

PERSONALS

A meeting of the grievance committee of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen employed on the northwest system of the Pennsylvania railroad was held last evening at the Seventh Avenue hotel preparatory to holding a conference with General Manager George L. Peck this morning at 10 o'clock. The object of the conference is to induce Mr. Peck to readjust the wages of the trainmen and revise the runs of the crews. The adjustment of the wage scale practically means a slight increase, but not sufficient to justify much contention.

"Just 40 years ago I saw Washington, D. C., for the first time and under circumstances that were far from pleasant," said J. L. Gregor of McKinley, Tex., when seen at the Union station last evening, returning from that city. "I had been captured at Spotsylvania Courthouse and was taken to the capital along with a number of other Confederate prisoners. In addition to the depression that comes to a prisoner, I was still suffering from wounds, and thus it was with a heavy heart that I made my entry into Washington. They carried us to the old capital prison, which I think I would be able to recognize. I remember being allowed to go out in the yard and gather a quantity of crab apples, which I cooked and thought excellent. The regular menu was pretty slender, and even boiled crab apples was a welcome addition. If that old tree is still in existence I think I would rather see it than to look upon the rarest and most beautiful of all the sights."

E. L. Brown of the transportation department of the River Coal Company has returned from an extended trip through Canada. J. W. Barber, paymaster of the same company has returned from a vacation spent at Atlantic City.

HENRICKS AND M'ILVAIN HAVE SHORT CONFERENCE

Allegheny Director of Public Works Decides to Obey Councils and Work Starts on Water Mains.

Director McIlvain of the Allegheny public works department has receded from his attitude of defiance of councils and has started the work of laying water mains under the streets named in the ordinance passed at the July meeting. He announced yesterday that work had been commenced, and that in accordance with the provisions of the measure he was employing resident labor. This will give work to about 300 men for several months. So far no one has come forward to ask for an injunction to restrain the director from obeying the instructions of councils, and it is not considered likely such action will be taken.

Councilman John R. Henricks of the Eleventh ward, who introduced the measure and who threatened to take McIlvain into the courts if the latter disregarded the ordinance, had a conference with McIlvain yesterday in the latter's office. The meeting resulted in an exchange of opinions that was anything but pleasing to the two. Henricks asked what action was to be taken regarding the work, and was told by McIlvain that although the ordinance was illegal, the laying of the water mains would be started at once, and that if any legal proceedings resulted councils would have to face the music.

"Then I suppose I can pay off my attorney, if that be the case," remarked Henricks.

"You can do what you wish with your attorney. That is none of my business," replied the director.

Henricks left city hall, declaring he was well pleased that the matter was not to get into court.

PYTHIANS ELECT THEIR NATIONAL OFFICERS

Charles M. Shively of Indiana Is Made Supreme Chancellor of the Order.

LOUISVILLE, KY., Aug. 18.—The supreme lodge of the Knights of Pythias today elected the following officers for the next two years:

Supreme chancellor, Charles E. Shively, Richmond, Ind.; supreme vice chancellor, Charles A. Barnes, Jacksonville, Ill.; supreme prelate, L. H. Farnsworth, Salt Lake, Utah; supreme keeper of records and seal, R. L. C. White, Nashville, Tenn.; supreme master of the exchequer, Thomas L. Mears, Wilmington, N. C.; supreme master at arms, Cyrus W. Hall, Charleston, W. Va.; supreme inner guard, J. T. Haggard, Winnipeg, Man.; supreme outer guard, J. W. Thompson, Washington, D. C.; president of the board of control, C. S. Neal, Chicago; major general of the uniform rank, J. R. Carnahan, Indianapolis, Ind.

The election of officers and the hearing of invitations from New Orleans and Nashville for the next encampment took up all the time of the sessions of the supreme lodge today. A vote on the place of next meeting will be taken tomorrow.

The work of the Rathbone Sisters and of the Pythian Sisters closed for the day with the final plans for amalgamation still unreported from the conference committees. The Rathbone Sisters voted almost unanimously to discontinue the insurance feature of their order.

The Khorassans today decided to hold a meeting at Detroit in 1905. The conventions hereafter will be independent of the Pythians, the joint meetings having proven unsatisfactory to both sides.

OLD PROJECT REVIVED.

Surveyors Are Again Working on Half Built Railroad Line from Connellsville to Washington.

Engineers are at work in East and West Pike run townships, Washington county, surveying routes along the old "short line route" from the Connellsville coke field to Vance on the Pittsburgh and Wheeling line of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad east of Washington. This makes the fourth attempt to accomplish what Engineer Jonathan P. Knight had in view more than 50 years ago; a plan for connecting Washington directly with the great coal fields of Fayette county.

The stone piers for a bridge across the Monongahela river still stand at Coal Center. Peterman's tunnel in Washington county was only half completed and all grading was completed. The route is through coal territory belonging to the Jones & Laughlin Steel Company, C. Jutte & Company of Pittsburgh, and the James W. Ellsworth & Company's Ellsworth field.

CONSOLIDATION POSTPONED.

Proposition to Organize a New Central Body Is Tabled by Iron City Council.

Samuel Gompers' lieutenants were given a setback last night when the Iron City Central Trades council tabled the proposition having for its purpose the organization of a new central body and the dissolution of the three councils now existing.

The meeting was largely attended and every delegate present expected to hear some lively arguments, and in this they were not disappointed. N. F. Storm, who is one of the committee of two appointed by the Iron City to confer with committees from the other central bodies, was not present, which prevented the committee making a complete report. The matter will come up at the next meeting of the council, and during the interim those favoring the plan of consolidation expect to secure more pledges for support.

There was some talk last night that the new central body will be organized without waiting for the co-operation of the Iron C[ity]

BRIDE AND GROOM PARTED OVER RELIGIOUS DEBATE

Married Four Weeks Ago, They Lived Happily Until They Began Attending Church.

Frank I. Haverley, a bridegroom of four weeks, yesterday was sent to the Allegheny county jail on a charge of assault and battery preferred by his bride. Haverley is a clerk and is well known in the neighborhood of his home in Collier township.

They lived happily until last Sunday, when they differed on religion. He went to his church and she went to hers, and when they came home a quarrel occurred. Litigation was the outcome of religious enthusiasm, and the bridegroom instituted a suit, charging his wife with disorderly conduct. She paid the costs in the case and instituted the cross suit, which has brought Haverley to trouble.

LEAGUE GAMES TODAY.

Pittsburgh at New York.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—After trying all styles of inside baseball for nine innings, the Pirates were compelled to leave the field without chalking up a run to their credit, while the Giants gathered in six. Today's defeat at the hands of the McGraws places the team on an even basis for this series, inasmuch as both clubs have won two games. Consequently it is up to Leach to capture the rubber tomorrow, which is a postponed game to be played at the Polo grounds.

Joe McGinnity was all there against the champions and held them down to five bingles, all singles, and not two in an inning. The Parisian found Phillippe for six hits, Mertes connecting with a triple and Bresnahan a double.

Wagner's playing today was a contradiction of stories sent out lately that the big German was losing the use of his throwing wing. His playing in the short field was the bright particular feature of today's game. He did all his work in the fourth inning, and although he had an error, his lightning stops and throws earned him much well deserved applause.

"The Deacon's" appearance in the box gave promise of much, and while he failed to win as game no fault could be found with his all around work. Today's defeat was due to two things—the failure of the champs to get to McGinnity and the numerous errors committed by both in and outfield. This was especially so during the early stages of the game, when the locals took advantage of every misplay and piled up four runs in the first three innings.

In the breakaway Leach opened the game as he did yesterday by dropping a safe one in center. Beaumont drove a ball at McGinnity which nearly tore his arm off, and the pitcher had all he could do to get the speedy center fielder at first. Ritchey shot another tobacco liner at Joe, which he stopped cleverly, catching Claude at first. Leach in the meantime made a dash for home, but was caught by a relish McGann's quick throw to Warner. The second inning was a mere formality, not a Pirate getting to first. After getting the runners nicely filled in the third inning, with one out, a quick double play closed the inning. In this inning McCormick drove a high fly back of short and got to second on Dahlen's muff. Carisch, who, by the way, is being raised on all sides for his backstopping, made McGinnity pass him on four wide ones. Phillippe also profited by Carisch's example at the bat and down the path he went filling the bags, with none out.

Leach, who has been hitting at a smart clip during this series, could do nothing but look at the good ones go by until three had passed him. Dahlen made up for his drop of McCormick's fly by getting Beaumont's drive, stepping on second, forcing Phillippe and nailing the fast Beaumont at first. For the second time in three innings did the Giants check what looked like a batting rally, by making double plays.

Another piece of hard luck happened in the fourth inning. Ritchey reached first safely on a fly drive to left. Wagner and Bransfield were retired at first. Kruger drove what looked good for two bases, but Ritchey's interference with the ball on the path made the umpire declare the batter out. Not a Pirate got beyond first after the fourth inning.

The Giants won the game in their half of the first inning. Dahlen singled to left and Wagner let Devlin's smash go through. Bresnahan and Leach threw Dahlen out at third, Wagner dashing up to third and taking the throw. On Warner's single to left Dahlen scored and on Leach's poor throw of the hit Gilbert followed Dahlen over the rubber. McGinnity and Bresnahan were retired at first.

Two more came over the plate for the locals in the third inning. After Brown had fanned McGann was hit by a pitched ball and ambled to first. Mertes smashed a hit down the third base line, on which McGann scored and the latter reached third. Carisch, after a long run, got Dahlen's fout. Devlin singled and reached second on Kruger's fumble, Mertes scoring. Beaumont got under Gilbert's fly, closing the inning. In the fifth inning McGann's long fly to center was dropped by Beaumont after a hard run and Dan came all the way home. The Giants' last run came in the eighth. Mertes filed to Beaumont and Dahlen got to second on Kruger's muff of his fly. Devlin beat out his bunt and Dahlen moved to third. Gilbert drove a long fly to McCormick and Dahlen crossed the plate after the catch, with the sixth and last run.

Barney Dreyfuss filed a protest with President Pulliam today against the game won by the Giants yesterday. The basis of the protest was McGraw's action when Wagner was put out at the plate. Dreyfuss contends that the New York manager was out of the coaching box and on the third bag when Wagner was making a play to put out Gilbert, which is a violation of the rules. Wagner declared again today before the game, that McGraw called to him to pass him (McGraw) the ball and he, thinking McGraw was Leach, obeyed the call. Umpire Johnstone's allowing Gilbert to score and the umpire benched him. The score:

WATSON SCORES THE DEMOCRACY

It Has No Character or Standing, Declares People's Party Candidate.

NOTIFICATION MEETING HELD

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—Thomas E. Watson of Georgia, the People's party candidate for president, and Thomas H. Tibbles of Nebraska, the candidate for vice president, were formally notified of their nomination here tonight at Cooper Union.

The big hall was crowded when, at 8 o'clock, the two candidates, accompanied by Alfred G. Boulton of Brooklyn, chairman of the meeting, appeared on the platform. Chairman Boulton introduced Judge Samuel W. Williams of Indiana, who made the speech officially notifying the candidates of their selection.

When Mr. Watson arose to speak the cheering continued for nearly four minutes. Aside from his elucidation of the principles of Populism, Mr. Watson devoted most of his speech largely to a caustic arraignment of the Democratic party. He said, in part:

"Our political history has never seen a situation so ludicrous as that which the national Democracy now holds. I can understand how the citizen can work for the Republican party and vote its ticket with enthusiastic zeal, if it has stood by its principles through storm as well as sunshine, and no matter how bad you and I may think its creed is, we are bound to admit that the Republican party has a creed, is willing to fight for it, is willing to cling to it in defeat, and continue to struggle for it until victory comes again. But in the name of common sense, tell me why any sane and sober citizen should, in this campaign, vote the Democratic ticket? What principle of Democracy does it stand for? To what point is it directing its line of march except to the Republican camp? Surrounded by the Wall street magnates who had financed his campaign for two years, Judge Parker bided his time till the perils of the two-thirds rule were passed, and when it was too late for the convention to retrace its steps—for even the Democratic bosses require more than 10 minutes to turn completely round in—he cracks the Wall street whip over the heads of his leaders and with prompt obedience the great Democratic legions were made to furl their flags and reverse their line of march.

Democrats Feel Outraged.

"The mass of the Democratic party feel outraged at the way in which their leaders have sold them to Wall street. I do not believe that the six and a half million men who followed Bryan, with cheers on their lips and warm convictions in their hearts, can now be delivered like cattle to the Clevelandites, who jeered the ticket or bolted it in 1896. I believe that the great majority of the men who voted for Bryan are men of convictions; I cannot but hope they will realize that I am fighting their battle now.

"Do the Democratic leaders suppose for one moment that the voters of this country are going to forget the history of the past eight years? Do they imagine for a moment that when they stand in the attitude of confessing so colossal a blunder as they made upon the money question that they are going to be trusted on any other question?

"But we are told the Democratic party has taken a brave stand on the tariff question. It has declared that protection is robbery, but even those who claim that the words mean "a tariff for revenue only" will find cold comfort in the letter of their candidate, who declares that while he would be glad to see a revision of the tariff, he knows that he cannot bring it to pass. Therefore, the great tariff question may be considered as "waived," just as the great money question is "waived."

After paying his respects to the Democratic attitude on trusts and imperialism, Mr. Watson proceeded:

A Foe of Labor.

Where does the national Democratic party stand on the labor question? Can anybody tell? We know what its record is. We have not forgotten how at the call of the Pullman Palace Car Company, a Democratic president invaded a sovereign state with federal troops, in spite of the protest of its Democratic governor—John P. Altgeld—a better, abler, and braver man than ever Grover Cleveland was. We all remember how the strike of the workmen whose wages had been cut, was broken by the mail bag farce and the prostitution of the power of the United States army to the service of a greedy and heartless corporation. The Democratic doctrine of state rights was trampled under foot, and, urged on by Olney, the railroad lawyer, Grover Cleveland exercised a power which Daniel Webster, advising Andrew Jackson, believed could only be exercised by authority of a special act of congress.

Has the Democratic party any character? Stealing the platform of the People's party in 1896; stealing that of the Republicans in 1904; how can it now pretend to be a party based upon convictions? I cannot see in the management of the Democratic party anything on earth except an effort to find out which is the best bait to put on the hook. It is merely a question of catching the voter, and winning the office.

LABOR LEADER WAS INDICTED

President of Building Trades Alliance Is Held on Charge of Extortion.

PLUMBER MADE COMPLAINT

The Pittsburgh Gazette Bureau.
Herald Building, Herald Square.
NEW YORK, Aug. 18.

The grand jury today indicted Philip Weinseimer, the president of the Building Trades Alliance, on a charge of having extorted $2,700 from George J. Essig, a plumber of No. 20 Hancock place. Weinseimer was arrested yesterday afternoon on a complaint made by Essig, and after a preliminary examination in the Tombs court was held in $1,500 cash bail.

The speedy finding of the indictment is said to show that District Attorney Jerome is going to take the same procedure with Weinseimer that he did with the late Samuel Parks—that is, the trial will be held as soon as practicable. The indictment obviates the necessity of a public hearing this afternoon in the police court, and also makes it unnecessary for the district attorney's office to show its evidence prior to the trial.

Among those who testified before the grand jury this morning, it is learned, were Mr. Essig, Acting District Attorney Rand and Detective Sergeant McConville, who is conversant with the case.

The district attorney's office believes, it is understood, that the six promissory notes in its possession, made to Weinseimer by Essig, are conclusive evidence of the act of extortion, although there is no evidence of money having been paid. The fact that one of the notes became due on Monday and was not met and that a strike was called on Tuesday at the Chatsworth, a building in which Essig had a contract, is given as further proof of the extortion.

A temporary injunction was issued by Justice Dickey of the supreme court, Brooklyn, today, restraining the Building Trades Employers' association from locking out the tile workers because of their strike in the subway. The order is returnable August 22.

The case of the tile workers will be to test the right of the association to lock out seven unions in the subway and on contracts held by members of the employers' association. In the argument before Justice Dickey the attorney for the Building Trades Alliance declared the lockout was in violation of agreements between the employers and the unions. Up to date the lockout order of the employers affects 50,000 men.

CHAUTAUQUA

CHAUTAUQUA, N. Y., Aug. 18.—(Special.)—The Women's club had an unusual audience this morning, composed of as many men as women, who listened with interest to a short address on civil service reform given by Charles B. Wheeler of Buffalo. He gave a brief history of the "Spoils" system and clearly showed the necessity for the reform movement. After telling how the merit system eliminates the wrong he urged the women to continue their efforts in the direction of reforms.

The Rev. Hugh Black gave the fourth and last lecture on the general subject of "Culture," and spoke on "Culture of the Heart." He said in part:

"It is a mistake advocates of culture have to limit it to the sphere of the intellect. The culture of the heart has been looked upon as superfluous development. A need for reason is admitted, but if the emotions can go astray, as they certainly can, so can the reason. The sensual combined with the intellectual can result only in deviltry. Intellect without affections can create a monster. We are afraid of sentiment in these days and conceal affection even from those we love best. We denounce passion, but every true and unselfish passion purifies. Emotion is at the basis of life, even intellectual life. There is no great thought that is not transfused with feeling. The world is held in thrall, not by financiers, statemen and rulers, but by the sentimentalists, the poets, the prophets and the mystics. The affections need care, attention, education and training. Don't attempt to kill emotion, but strive to purify. However good and necessary emotion may be, reason must be used as ballast. Emotion divorced from action is unsafe. To feel is but to dream until we do."

The Rev. Mr. Black expressed his deep regret that he must leave Chautauqua. He will preach in the East Liberty Presbyterian church, Pittsburgh, Sunday morning and evening.

Dr. J. M. Buckley gave another exhibition of his versatility when he lectured on "Cotton and the Cotton Speculation." This was the 85th lecture Dr. Buckley has delivered in Chautauqua. The postponed farewell meeting of the Willard Federated Women's Christian Temperance Union was held at Kellogg hall and was of unusual interest.

The Chautauqua Press club had an enjoyable excursion to Celeron in the afternoon. A special car was tendered by the Chautauqua Traction Company and the privileges of the grounds were extended to the members of the club. About 50 members composed an enjoyable party, which greatly enjoyed the excursion. Bishop Vincent gave an illustrated lecture on "Zurich."

ORCHESTRA COMMITTEE WILL HOLD EARLY MEETING

Art Society Members Will Hear Discussion of Plans for Next Season's Concerts at Carnegie Hall.

An informal meeting of the orchestra committee of the Art society will be held today or tomorrow to hear the preliminary report of Manager George H. Wilson, who has just returned from a trip to Europe, where he visited Emil Paur, the orchestra's new conductor, at his home in Vienna. Mr. Wilson will give in outline the whole scheme which he has arranged for next season's work after the conference with Mr. Paur. The preparation for the prospectus and the matter of selecting musicians and soloists will be taken up immediately.

"The people of Pittsburgh have every reason to anticipate the season," said Mr. Wilson yesterday, when he arrived in his office. "Mr. Paur has promised to co-operate most heartily in every measure which we shall suggest for the betterment of the orchestra. He is a man who is far above any idea of commercialism, and there is certain to be nothing but the most hearty relations between the new conductor and the promoters of good music in Pittsburgh. Mr. Paur has two sons, young men of 18 and and 20, who are students in the University of Vienna. They are desirous of making their home in this country, and it is probable that their father will grant their request."

These Two Women were Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

READ THEIR LETTERS:

"Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—Gratitude compels me to acknowledge the great merit of your Vegetable Compound. I have suffered for four years with irregular and painful menstruation, also dizziness, pains in the back and lower limbs, and fitful sleep. I dreaded the time to come which would only mean suffering to me.

"Better health was all I wanted, and cure if possible. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound brought me health and happiness in a few short months. I feel like another person now. My aches and pains have left me. Life seems new and sweet to me, and everything seems pleasant and easy.

"Six bottles brought me health, and was worth more than months under the doctor's care, which really did not benefit me at all. I am satisfied there is no medicine so good for sick women as your Vegetable Compound, and I advocate it to my lady friends in need of medical help."—Mrs. B. A. Blanchard, 423 Broad St., Nashville, Tenn.

"Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—I wish to express my gratitude for the restored health and happiness Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has brought into my life.

"I had suffered for three years with terrible pains at the time of menstruation, and did not know what the trouble was until the doctor pronounced it inflammation of the ovaries, and proposed an operation.

"I felt so weak and sick that I felt sure that I could not survive the ordeal, and so I told him that I would not undergo it. The following week I read an advertisement in the paper of your Vegetable Compound in such an emergency, and so I decided to try it. Great was my joy to find that I actually improved after taking two bottles, so I kept taking it for ten weeks, and at the end of that time I was cured. I had gained eighteen pounds and was in excellent health, and am now.

"You surely deserve great success, and you have my very best wishes."—Miss Alice Bailey, 50 North Boulevard, Atlanta, Ga.

$5000 FORFEIT if we cannot forthwith produce the original letters and signatures of above testimonials, which will prove their absolute genuineness.
Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

The wonderful power of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound over the diseases of womankind is not because it is a stimulant,—not because it is a palliative, but simply because it is the most wonderful tonic and reconstructor ever discovered to act directly upon the uterine system, positively CURING disease and restoring health and vigor.

Marvellous cures are reported from all parts of the country by women who have been cured, trained nurses who have witnessed cures, and physicians who have recognized the virtue in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and are fair enough to give credit where it is due.

If physicians dared to be frank and open, hundreds of them would acknowledge that they constantly prescribe Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in severe cases of female ills, as they know by experience that it can be relied upon to effect a cure.

Women who are troubled with painful or irregular menstruation, backache, bloating (or flatulence), leucorrhœa, falling, inflammation or ulceration of the uterus, ovarian troubles, that "bearing-down" feeling, dizziness, faintness, indigestion, nervous prostration or the blues, should take immediate action to ward off the serious consequences, and be restored to perfect health and strength by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and then write to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for further free advice. No living person has had the benefit of a wider experience in treating female ills. She has guided thousands to health. Every suffering woman should ask for and follow her advice.

LEFT HER DOG FOR COMPANY

Mother-in-Law and a Bicycle Are Blamed for Breaking Up Man's Home.

WIFE'S STORY OF CRUELTY

Ending his letter with: "It is breaking my heart to leave you, good-by May and Trix until you hear from me again," Frederick D. Miller disappeared and his wife, Mary E. Miller, has not seen him since. Trix was their pet dog.

The story of his disappearance is told in the testimony taken in the divorce suit brought against him by his wife, which was filed yesterday, and the long letter he left for her is a part of the evidence. The wife testified they were married in Kansas City on January 13, 1892. In 1896 he brought her to Pittsburgh to live and they were in a flat when he disappeared in August, 1897. He was a salesman. She had been visiting in New York state and when she returned she found the letter, the following being extracts from it: "May, no doubt you will be surprised and glad when you finish reading what I am going to write. I can see by the letters you have written me just how much love you have for me. We have lived very unhappily ever since we had our trouble in K. C. I have tried hard to forget the past but from the way you have acted, I find it impossible. You know that I am very much opposed to you riding a bicycle, so does your mother. She heard me express my opinion on them just before she left, then she came here and offered you one in case you learned to ride. Now that looks as though she was trying as hard as you to get rid of me.

Blames His Mother-in-Law.

"She has done nothing but 'cause trouble between us ever since we were married. I have done my best to make you happy. I have given up everything with the exception of enough to get me out of town. I am sorry to leave you in such a way, but if your mother can spend money on bicycles I guess she can help you a little."

He wrote he did not know where he was going but hoped he would be happier, and added he could get a divorce if she wanted it. He said her mother could carry his life insurance along and that he didn't think it would have to be kept going very long.

"Take good care of Trix," he wrote, "and he will be lots of company to you. I hope you will leave bicycles alone, as you are sick enough without working one of those things."

He wrote he would like to see her and "Trix" again but that he wouldn't be able to go away if he did, as it would then be too hard, and he finished: "Well, I do hope you may live happy. I know that is hard for you to be, but try. Good-by, May and Trix, until you hear from me again. With love and kisses, Ever, Aff. Fred."

The testimony in the divorce proceedings of Mary P. Sinclair against Leroy B. Sinclair was filed by the commissioner. It is alleged that Sinclair tried to throw his wife into the Allegheny river from the Ninth street bridge. The couple were married April 21, 1901, and separated in December, 1902. The decree is asked on the grounds of cruel and barbarious treatment and indignities to the person. It is claimed by the wife that her husband was very abusive when under the influence of drink and that he was seldom sober. She alleges he threw lunch boxes and vases at her and kicked her when she was in delicate health, causing her to be very sick afterward. The testimony of Mrs. Sinclair was corroborated by one of her bridesmaids and her grandmother.

Petition Filed by Creditors.

A petition in involuntary bankruptcy was filed against the Otterman Manufacturing Company of Bridgeville. The petitioners, the Erie Malleable Company of Erie, and the Baird Machinery Company and C. A. Turner of Pittsburgh, present claims amounting to $763 95. The petitioners allege the Otterman Manufacturing Company committed an act of bankruptcy when they allowed J. P. McIlvain & Co. to secure a judgment against the firm for $264 90 in the county courts.

Carl Schwarz, late of Pittsburgh, after leaving a $1,400 estate to his wife, Mary, to go to their children at her death, inserts the following: "I further direct that after my decease my said wife shall have the full power to dispose of the property as she wishes under the one condition that she will never have her mother living in my home, No. 118, Sixteenth street, South Side, Pittsburgh, Pa."

JANITOR OF MASONIC TEMPLE IS ARRESTED

William Fields, janitor of the Masonic temple, Meade and Lincoln avenues, Bellevue, was arrested shortly after noon yesterday on a charge of larceny, preferred by Justice of the Peace William R. Johnston of Bellevue. The 'squire pretended to go to lunch, but hid himself in a rear room. He alleges he saw the janitor take a marked half dollar and two quarters from a drawer and then had the man arrested. Fields will have a hearing this afternoon before Alderman Schellman of Allegheny. The justice had been missing small sums from his desk for some time.

Street Letter Box Wrecked.

George Davis of Jeannette was arrested in that place yesterday by United States Marshal George S. Owens. He is charged with breaking down a street letter box by crushing into it while driving. In the absence of Commissioner H. D. Gamble, Davis was permitted to plead before Justice Carey of Jeannette. He waived a hearing and furnished bail for court.

Enraged Monkey Bites Child.

A performing monkey, solicitor for an Italian organ grinder, became enraged at some children on Twelfth street, Braddock, yesterday afternoon and attacked Annie Carey, aged 10. She was seriously bitten on the left arm. The musician was arrested and fined $10 by Burgess James Purcell and ordered out of town.

McKeesport's Crop of Babies.

According to the statistics in the office of the McKeesport board of health there is no danger of race suicide in that city. The record in births promises to be broken this month, and the number of deaths is about doubled by the births. Secretary Richards has received reports of 109 births for the present month. The number of deaths so far is 49.

Will Sue McKeesport.

A series of accidents have occurred in McKeesport within the last few days at a dangerous flight of steps from South Evans avenue to South Soles street. Yesterday Miss Annie Martin fell and was seriously injured. A few days ago an aged woman sustained a broken arm. Several others have been hurt, and all have announced their intention of bringing suits for damages.

Right Eye Was Knocked Out.

Julius Wilner of Homestead was held in $1,000 bail for court yesterday by Alderman Anderson on a charge of aggravated assault and battery. James Gelston of 3039 Bererton street alleges that during a fight on June 7 Wilner hit him with a blunt instrument, knocking out his right eye.

STOCKS AVERAGED HIGHER AND GRAIN MARKET LOWER

Largest Gains in the Industrials, but Railroads Held Steady—Pittsburgh Market Remained Dull and Listless.

By JOHN O. BAGLIN, Financial Editor.

The New York stock market yesterday was more active and prices averaged higher, while western grain markets were less excited and prices averaged lower. There were indications in both markets that the extraordinary movements of the past two weeks were reaching a climax. In Wall street a number of obscure and inactive stocks like United States Leather common and preferred were brought into prominence, while in the Chicago grain pits the worst reports of crop damage this season failed to advance prices to Wednesday's highest level. One crop expert who has been traveling in the northwest reported to his correspondents that three-fourths of the Manitoba wheat crop was in danger of damage from rust and frost, and estimated the average yield per acre at a very low figure. Another reporter in North Dakota reiterated his statements of unfavorable conditions in that state. Still wheat made a violent break at the opening, and while foreign markets were higher and a sharp rally occurred in Chicago, the closing prices showed losses ranging from 1½ to 2 cents.

Wall street paid more attention to iron trade conditions, and the rumors in connection therewith were responsible for two moderate reactions, one in the morning and the other around 2 o'clock. The reaction, however, did not affect the particular stock at which the rumors were aimed. United States Steel preferred opened steady at 89⅜, and after selling off to 88⅞, made a strong rally to 90⅜, the high point of the day before, and closed practically unchanged for the day. Reports were current in well informed circles in both New York and Pittsburgh that as a result of recent conferences an "open market" had been declared on steel and wire products, with the exception of steel rails. It was said that the reason the latter were not included in the reductions was that the price had been guaranteed at $28 for 1904, and that a reduction now would involve the payment of rebates on rails sold and delivered during the first half of the year. There was no official confirmation of the reported concessions made on various products during market hours, but there was a strong impression that selling agencies had been notified of the reductions.

The net gains in the industrial group were larger than in the railroads. The latter were steady to firm, and had the benefit of higher quotations from London and purchases by foreigners, but they moved within a comparatively narrow range. Pennsylvania rallied to 123⅝ and closed at a net advance of ½ per cent for the day, the strength being based apparently on the theory that any revival in the iron market would involve larger tonnage for the railroads. Baltimore & Ohio rallied to 85⅞ and closed at a net advance of ⅝ per cent. Canadian Pacific was not affected by the reports on the Manitoba wheat crop and closed ⅜ higher for the day. St. Paul rallied to 151⅝, reacted 1 per cent, but recovered most of the loss and closed a fraction higher. Atchison closed ⅝ higher, and Union Pacific ⅛ higher, while Rock Island closed ¼ lower, and Southern Pacific unchanged. Louisville & Nashville and Southern Railway closed a shade lower for the day.

The two strongest stocks in the market were American Smelting and Amalgamated Copper. The former rose to 63¾, the highest of the year, and closed with a net gain of nearly 2 per cent. There was no news connected with the movement, but brokers who often represent insiders were the largest buyers. Amalgamated Copper was strong and higher, advancing to 55⅝ and closing at 55½ bid, the best prices this year. The statistical position of the copper trade appears to be very strong. Among the exports reported yesterday was 500 tons of the metal shipped from New York to Shanghai, a market heretofore supplied by Japan. For the year to date the exports of copper have been larger than for the entire year 1903. The weakest stock in the market was Sugar, which opened at 133 and broke to 130½ early in the session. The selling was ascribed to the liquidation of a bull pool. The price recovered to 131⅛ during the afternoon and closed at 131⅝, a net decline of 1⅛ for the day.

The money market remained easy and unchanged at ⅛ to 1 per cent for call loans. The Bank of England rate of discount remained unchanged at 3 per cent. The weekly statement of the bank was particularly strong, showing a decrease of $9,590,000 in loans, a gain of $6,180,000 in reserve, and the highest percentage of reserve to liability reported for years at this season. The report of the Bank of France showed a decrease of about $700,000 in gold and silver and an increase of $3,745,000 in loans.

On the Pittsburgh stock exchange yesterday the market was dull and listless. The sales were less than a thousand shares, and the number of net changes in prices was smaller than for weeks past. The strongest stock on the list was Pittsburgh Coal preferred, which advanced to and closed at 58¼, a net gain of 1¼ per cent. River Coal preferred sold unchanged at 20. The only transactions in the steel stocks were 30 shares Crucible common at 5½, and 25 shares United States Steel preferred at 54¾. Westinghouse Electric was a shade lower, closing offered at 79⅜, while Air Brake was firmer at 130¼ bid.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

The price of Pittsburgh Coal preferred was bid up $1.50 a share yesterday to 58¼ and less than 200 shares of the stock came out. River Coal preferred sold unchanged at 20. There were no transactions in the comon stocks of either company. The most conspicuous feature of the entire local market is the scarcity of offerings of stock. The market is very narrow. When a selling order appears prices decline, but the exact reverse of this is also true. It is as difficult to buy as to sell.

A local banker who returned from New York yesterday said he found bullish feeling on the stock market among commission house brokers and an intense interest in the state of the iron market. The impression in Wall street is that a group of financiers affiliated with one of the large banks have been sustaining the market. These big men bought stocks last fall in the expectation that the market would turn before the close of the year. They miscalculated the time of the "turn" and were compelled to carry their stocks. They bought again late last spring, but the condition of affairs in industrial circles and the damage to winter wheat kept the public out of the market. They have been the support of the market on the upward movement that began in June and which has continued with slight interruption since then. The market has not been broad enough to permit of large profit-taking by these influential interests. Traders who have followed the movement at a respectable distance have been taking profits right along and each time buying back at a moderate advance, but the group of influential men who are credited with being the real backbone of the market have not yet felt warranted in taking profits. The inference is that they will continue to control the speculative situation until there is a much broader market.

Only 11 stocks changed hands on the Pittsburgh exchange yesterday, and the total sales fell short of 1,000 shares. Of the latter 225 shares consisted of Luster Mining at 12 and 185 shares Pittsburgh Plate Glass at 115, both unchanged from the last previous sales.

Westinghouse Airbrake did not change hands yesterday, but the stock was a little firmer. It is intimated that some good news is to come out on Airbrake in the near future which is believed to be in connection with new patents that will give the company a fresh lease of life, so far as patent rights protection is concerned.

There were sales of $1,767 Pittsburgh Coal dividend scrip at 102, at which all recent transactions have been made.

On the exchange Homes & Sons bid 117½ for $50,000 Allegheny Valley 7 per cent bonds.

The Cincinnati Price Current, which is regarded as an authority, yesterday estimated the total wheat crop at 575,000,000 bushels. This is somewhat above the estimates of other experts, and probably has something to do with the reaction in the wheat market. The average grain speculator does not stop to reflect upon what is involved in guessing the yield of 44,000,000 acres of wheat distributed over farms from Maine to California and from Manitoba to the gulf.

The gross earnings of Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburgh for the first week in August decreased $15,890.

It comes from the electrical trade that the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, which has in the past made it almost a rule to give its electrical contract to the Westinghouse Company, has divided the electrical contract for the New York tunnel, a portion of it going to the General Electric Company. The talk is that the latter gets the locomotives. An active bidder for electrical contracts says: "There is a wide difference in the award of electrical contracts between the Lehigh Valley and Reading railroad companies on the one side and Pennsylvania and New York Central on the other. Nine times out of ten the Pennsylvania railroad contracts go to the Westinghouse Company. The amounts of the bids received, of course, are never announced. New York Central on the other hand seems to usually favor General Electric. Bids on the other hand received for Lehigh Valley and Reading contracts seem to be considered with entire impartiality."

A conservative Chicago house that has been bullish on the market wired this message after the close yesterday: "The movement of winter wheat continues large and the movement of spring wheat will no doubt steadily increase until the current estimates of damage are confirmed by the threshing returns and on top of the 30-cent advance we do not feel like advising purchase of wheat except at sharp reaction, and the latter we think we are likely to get. If they are confirmed, any great and persistent decline in prices is probably not likely. In any event, it promises to be a good scalping market."

The London Statist suggests that the recent decline in consols was due to the fact that England is running into debt yearly. The increase in this fiscal year is estimated at but $12,500,000, but the situation is such that no nation in good credit should allow it to continue from year to year. Between April, 1904, and January, 1905, the English government's expenditures will exceed the receipts $85,000,000. In the last quarter of the fiscal year the income will be sufficient to provide for the temporary issues which have been necessary to tide the government over the less three-quarters of the year. The capital expenditures are in equally slip-shod shape. The government had authority to expend £57,280,000 for various purposes, of which £38,992,000 were expended up to the close of the last fiscal year, leaving £28,458,000 to be provided for, and probably £6,000,000 will have to be borrowed late in this calendar year on exchequer bonds. On a pay-as-you-go basis, as the Statist suggests, would be the better plan.

There is an old belief that activity in leather marks the culmination of an upward movement in the market. Leather common advanced yesterday to 5⅛ and the preferred to 86¼.

The net earnings of Missouri Pacific for June decreased $90,000.

Gross earnings of Canadian Pacific for the second week in August increased $85,000.

Two New York commission houses with Pittsburgh connections were reported to be large buyers of United States Steel preferred yesterday, which was supposed to be for covering shorts. Another house was credited with sales of 20,000 shares.

One Wall street house yesterday sold 20,000 shares Sugar, and an observer of the dealings said it was for "good houses."

The following story is being told in New York brokerage circles of A. J. Cassatt, the president of the Pennsylvania railroad. Last week Mr. Cassatt had occasion to run over to New York from Philadelphia. The conductor recognized him and passed by without asking to see his pass. Mr. Cassatt called back the conductor and chided him for not asking for his pass. "No matter if you do know who I am," he said in reply to the conductor's excuse, "I am entitled to a free ride only when I am traveling with a pass. You don't know whether I have it or not." The conductor, a little nettled, then asked to see the pass. "That's right," exclaimed the president. "Here—why—where—well, I declare, I must have left it in the office." "Then you will have to pay your fare," said the conductor, firmly. And Mr. Cassatt did. His lecture cost him $5.

Reports of gross earnings for the second week of August were uniformly favorable with the sole exception of Denver & Rio Grande, which showed a decline from last year's corresponding period of over 21 per cent. Yet that stock shot up over 2 points. The demand for it was attributed to London account. The buying of Erie was said to come from the same source. Foreign holdings of these stocks are on a large scale and operations in them for foreign account are given special attention. Missouri, Kansas & Texas was said to be bought yesterday for account of Amsterdam.

The New York tractions were the subject of a demonstration which comprehended the whole group for the first time since the current movement set in. Manhattan led with a rise of more than 3 and interborough on the curb rose with equal violence. Repetition of old merger rumors was the only explanation and the group reacted sharply.

WALL STREET MARKET CLOSED WITH ADVANCE

Stocks Continued to Display a Strong Undertone With Activity in Specialties.

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—The Herald this (Friday) morning says:

Stocks continued to display a strong undertone and the general list showed advances at the close. More repression of bullish tactics was in evidence, and an inclination was exhibited to measure the act

SCHOOL HOUSES WILL COST $80,000

MORE HOUSE BUILDING JOBS

After a lively competition among architects the board of education of the Swissvale school district has selected Architect F. G. Scheibler, Jr., of Wilkinsburg, to prepare plans for two school houses to cost $40,000 each. The site for one building was donated to the borough by the Security Investment Company about a month ago. It is a lot 150x238 feet at Braddock avenue, Charles and Milton streets, Wilkins Place. The building to be erected on this site will be an eight room structure having two additional rooms for teachers and principals. As the bond issue has not been fully arranged for, work on the building will not start until next winter or spring. The school has been wanted for a long time and will be patronized by residents of Swissvale, Wilkinsburg, Edgewood and the Twenty-second ward, the remote corners of which have been without a convenient place to send children for several years.

The other school house, which will be started at once, will be in Woodstock avenue near Hawkins station. It will be very similar to the first in size and arrangement. The site is near the borough lines of Rankin and North Braddock and adjoins the Milligan Manor property. Children from both these boroughs will be admitted, their respective boroughs paying pro rata as will be the case at the Wilkins place building.

East End Gets More Houses.

Four more fine residences are assured for the East End as the result of sales announced yesterday. Three of them will be built by William O. Wright on property which he secured from John G. Holmes. The site is 120x145 feet and is on the south side of Baum street near Rebecca street and adjoining the property of the Christ Methodist Episcopal church. The property cost $18,000. The other residence will be built by Samuel H. McKee on a lot 52x130 feet in the west side of Sheridan avenue near Jackson street, Nineteenth ward. The site was bought from John C. Dilworth through the office of W. L. Stewart & Co. for $7,800 and the house will cost about $20,000.

Beezer Brothers have awarded the contract to John Chaplin for the Mossop memorial hospital at Clearfield. The building will be a two-story brick costing $8,000 and will have accommodations for 35 patients.

Architects Strollinger & Simpson have awarded the contract to John McMaster for the five-story hotel which Patrick Joyce and J. Wilson will build in Ferry street opposite the Wabash station. Work has already started on the building which will cost $15,000. The same architects awarded to Ross K. Sefton & Co. of Allegheny the contract for an $8,500 residence for George E. Smith in California avenue, Allegheny. They are also taking bids on the three-story apartment building which Ella G. and Mary B. Maloney will erect in Townsend street near Wylie avenue at a cost of $20,000.

Architect Louis O. Brosie has plans for four houses for H. Michaelyan in Herron avenue to cost $9,000; two cottages for W. A. Frickenbach in Clark street, Wilkinsburg, to cost $6,000, a store and flat building for H. Henderson in Boyleston street, Economy, to cost $6,000 and a house in Shady street for James E. Brady to cost $4,500.

Fine Houses on Old Property.

Charles R. Miller & Co. have abandoned their project of building a score or more of houses on their frontage in Beechwood boulevard and will not improve that property till next spring. They are now having plans prepared for an $8,500 residence in Meade street, near Homewood avenue, and for a $7,000 house in Fairmount avenue, near Penn avenue. The firm has just completed 34 houses on the old Charity hospital site in the Nineteenth ward. These stand on lots averaging 30x100 feet and face in St. Clair, Mellon and Hampton streets and Wellesley avenue. They are 10-room reception hall brick houses, with hardwood floors and hardwood finish below, and cost about $8,500 each. The houses are among the best that have been built this year for sale in the East End, and will be put on the market soon on the easy payment plan.

The Standard Land and Improvement Company, of which Charles R. Miller and Grant McCargo are leading members, has completed 75 houses at Monessen and has sold all but 10 of them. These were frame and brick veneered dwellings selling at $2,500 each. They are also heavily interested in the Steelworkers Land Company, which has recently finished 40 similar houses at Monessen, of which 30 have been sold on easy payments.

Edgewood Improvement Appreciated.

An improvement which will be of great value to Edgewood is the paving of Hawthorne avenue from Maple avenue to Walnut street now in progress. This work has been delayed for several years chiefly, it is said, because nearly all the frontage on one side of the street is occupied by the Western Pennsylvania Institution for the Deaf and Dumb, which did not concur in the plans of the other property owners along the street. Hawthorne avenue is built up with homes that are worth from $15,000 to $25,000 each, and this improvement will add about 10 per cent to the value of the properties. It will also be of great benefit to Locust street, which stops at Hawthorne avenue and depends on it for an outlet. Locust street is also built up with handsome houses, costing $10,000 or more each, which will be correspondingly benefited by the paving. It is reported on good authority that an offer of $2,000 a front foot has been made for 20 feet of the C. A. Warmcastle property at 6214 Penn avenue, near Shady avenue, East End. This is the first offer of importance made for Penn avenue holdings in East Liberty for several weeks and was declined, as the owner does not care to sell a portion of his frontage without the whole.

New Realty Firm in East End.

Caldwell & Geeting is the name of a new real estate firm which has offices at 145 South Highland avenue, East End. The members of the firm are S. W. Caldwell, who has been in the real estate business in that locality for several years, and John A. Geeting, a well-known realty operator of McKeesport. The firm has lately sold for Mrs. Lydia A. Pore to M. R. Cooke, 5915 Ellwood street, a 12-room brick house on lot 30x110 feet, for $11,500; Mr. Cooke tendering in part payment three lots 25x110 feet each, in Hastings street, near Lang avenue, Twenty-second ward, which were valued at $7,500. They also sold for M. Gillen to J. Wise a six-room house on lot 25x100 feet, in Harrison avenue, Greensburg, for $2,800.

Collins avenue: C. G. Mitchell sold for H. H. Freeman to S. W. Barnes, 63x100 feet, on the east side of Collins avenue, near Jackson street, Fifteenth ward, for $6,000. The buyer will build two modern brick houses. This district is building up rapidly with a good class of dwellings, as the lots are sold subject to rigid building restrictions.

Bedford avenue: The Aronson Realty Company sold for Abraham Sigal to John Wonstone, 1607 Bedford avenue, Eighth ward, an eight-room solid brick house on lot 16x80 feet, for $4,000. This is the last house in the Ramsay row which has been sold by Mr. Sigal at a profit of $2,500.

Fairmount avenue: The Real Estate Trust Company sold for H. C. Blethrow to a local business man 110 South Fairmount avenue, a brick and stone house on lot 51x100 feet, for $7,225.

Miller street: George C. Norris & Co. sold for Mollie Sing to Louis Little No. 31 Miller street, a frame house on lot 20x100 feet, for $1,800.

Beechwood boulevard: Coyle Bros. sold for the Prospect Land Company to Miss Rachel McClelland 58x200 feet in the east side of Beechwood boulevard, between Dalzell place and Irwin avenue, Twenty-second ward, for $7,250, or $123 a front foot.

Minor Real Estate Transactions.

East End: The Prospect Land Company sold to John M. Hastings 100x200 feet at Beechwood and Homewood avenues, Twenty-second ward, for $13,000.

Darrah street: J. A. Twitchell sold to Joseph Hartman, Jr., an improved lot, 42x118 feet, in Darrah street, near Terrace street, Fourteenth ward, for $12,000.

Stevenson street: Oscar Kapff sold to William Glick an improved lot, 21x90 feet, in Stevenson street, Sixth ward, for $7,250.

Coral street: The Thurston Lumber Company sold to John C. Hill five lots, 120x100 feet, in the Zollinger allotment, in Coral street, Thirty-seventh ward, for $9,600.

McClure avenue: Dr. John R. Morrow sold to A. L. Crosby 50x100 feet in the north side of McClure avenue, Twenty-second ward, for $2,400.

Lytle street: Morgan Henderson sold to Edward J. Stuck an improved lot, 20x120 feet, at Lytle and Courtland streets, Twenty-third ward, for $2,600.

UP GOES FLOUR AGAIN; TOMATO MARKET DROPS

New Grape Crop Coming in. Bananas Plentiful—Grain Business Brighter.

Jobbers have advanced flour again. Both spring and winter patents were marked up 10 cents yesterday, making a total increase of 40 cents this week. Judging from the excited condition of wheat, prices may go much higher still. Dealers are more or less puzzled, but busy themselves adjusting quotations from day to day. Coffee is still booming. Crop news in this line indicates much smaller supplies for the future. Recent frost damage in Brazil has been responsible to a considerable extent for the activity in coffee during the past 10 days. Grocery business is reported very good now; macaroni is moving freely.

Virginia and Ohio peaches were rather slow yesterday, and the produce market was quiet generally. Potatoes were firmer, arrivals being light and fancy fruits are wanted. Plums are here in mammoth supply and the market is away off.

The first New York grapes of the season arrived yesterday. The tomato market has slumped and prices are much below those that ruled the first of the week. There is no demand and the stock is selling for whatever people will pay. Cantaloupes hold up well; Rockyfords are high and here only in small quantities. Elberta peaches are marked up and Bartlett pears are quoted lower. Twenty-two cars of bananas arrived; other receipts were very small.

Butter, eggs and cheese showed no quotable changes locally. Poultry is about at a standstill. Grain men report big improvement in their business; demand is good on corn, feed, hay and oats. No. 1 timothy hay sold yesterday at $13 without any trouble; oats arrivals have been heavy, but the market is holding well. Ohio and Indiana oats have been coming in heavily, but they will soon be cleaned up and prices will then advance here.

HAY, GRAIN AND FEED.

SOUTH PENN COMPANY FINALLY GETS GOOD WELL

After a long run of dry holes and small wells on the east side of the Folsom district, in Harrison county, W. Va., the South Penn has at last succeeded in drilling in a well that may be regarded as the nearest approach to a gusher of any that has been found in that district for several months. It is this company's No. 8 on the T. J. Parish farm and found the pay at eight feet in the Gordon. The well started to flow at the rate of about 40 barrels an hour and produced 985 barrels the first 24 hours, and at the expiration of that time was holding up at 20 barrels an hour. The well is inside of defined limits and opens up nothing new. Operations are now under way on No. 9 on the same farm.

In the same district the Delmar Oil Company has drilled its No. 4 on the Floyd Lyons farm 25 feet into the Gordon and the hole has filled up 2,500 feet with fluid. The South Penn has drilled its No. 4 on the E. F. Heldreth farm 50 feet and the hole has filled up 200 feet with fluid. The test on the H. A. Parish farm has been drilled 20 feet into the Gordon and has a light showing of oil. The South Penn has drilled its test on the Senior Edgell farm through and 28 feet below the Big Injun and the hole has filled up 1,200 feet with fluid.

In the Salem district the South Penn has drilled its test on the Joseph Fittro farm through the Gordon and has a show for a light pumper.

In Shirley district, Doddridge county, the South Penn has drilled its test on the Horner-Yeater farm through the Big Injun and will have a 20-barrel producer.

In the Littleton district, Wetzel county, the South Penn has drilled its No. 5 on the G. W. Soles farm into the Gordon and has filled up with oil or gas. In the same district the Philadelphia Company's No. 4 on the J. K. Anderson farm is producing 115 barrels a day. Nos. 4 and 7 are producing 37 and 90 barrels a day respectively. Near Burton, in the same county, the same company's No. 1 on the Sarah Anderson farm has slumped again and is now producing 70 barrels a day from the fourth sand.

In the Richwood run district, the South Penn has drilled its second test on the Joseph Batson farm 34 feet into the Big Injun and has found no oil or gas. The same company has completed its test on the A. B. Jackson farm and has a 15-barrel pumper.

In the Garner district the South Penn has completed its test on the James Henry farm and has a very light gasser in the Gordon. In the same county the Tri-State Gas Company has completed its test on the Joseph Shettler farm and has a good gasser in the Gordon.

In the Fairview district, Marion county, Iseman & Leonard have completed their No. 4 on the C. Tennant farm and have a show for a 40-barrel producer in the fifth sand. Near Farmington, in the same county, the Hope Natural Gas Company has drilled its test on the S. E. Lough farm into the Big Injun and has a small gasser. It will not be drilled any deeper at present.

In the St. Marys district, Pleasants county, Irwin & Farrell have drilled their No. 5 on the C. W. Bills farm through the Keener and Big Injun and have a show in both formations. In the same district, Ellsworth & Davis have completed their No. 21 on the G. C. Roby farm and have a duster in the Cow Run sand.

In Murphy district, Ritchie county, the South Penn has drilled its test on the E. Barker farm through the Big Injun and has a duster. It will be abandoned.

In the Big Lime district, near Milton, Cabell county, the McCoach Oil and Gas Company has drilled its No. 4 on the T. J. Berkley farm through the Big Lime and has a duster. This well is 3,000 feet east of No. 1 on the E. W. Beckett farm.

On Limestone run, near Dilleuvale, Jefferson county, O., the Jefferson County Oil Company's second test on the James McBride farm produced 300 barrels the first 24 hours and at the expiration of that time was flowing at the rate of eight barrels an hour. This is the largest producer that has been drilled in since the same company completed its test on the W. J. Stinger farm, and has aroused new interest in the development. Some six wells had been completed in that locality prior to drilling in the No. 2 McBride and the production was about 300 barrels a day.

In the Jackson Ridge field, Monroe county, the Mars Drilling Company has drilled its No. 4 on the J. T. J. Denbrow farm into the top of the Keener and has a show for a 10-barrel pumper.

In the Wolf Creek district, Washington county, Cisler & Rangot have completed their No. 1 on the Effie M. Burt farm and have a show for a 20-barrel producer. In the same district E. H. Jennings & Bros. and Selby have drilled in their No. 14 on the Olive Works heirs' farm and have a show for a 25-barrel producer.

In the Lewisville district, Monroe county, the Pure Oil Company has completed its No. 3 on the A. W. Wheeler farm and has a 5-barrel producer in the Keener sand.

Between Georgetown and Hookstown, Beaver county, Pa., the Crown Petroleum Company has drilled its test on the H. Stevenson farm through the Berea grit and found that formation barren. It will be drilled deeper.

H. M. Stewart & Co. have drilled their test on the Thomas Blackmore farm through all sands and have a duster. In the Mt. Morris district, Greene county, J. L. Dunn & Co. have drilled their second test on the Christ Grim farm through the sand and will not have better than a 5-barrel pumpr.

NEGROES WHIPPED OUT OF GEORGIA

Others Are Shot In Cold Blood by Irresponsible White Marauders.

SOLDIERS ARE CRITICISED

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

STATESBORO, GA., Aug. 18.—A number of negroes were whipped today in this county and one at Claxton, about 25 miles from here. The exodus of blacks continues and already has threatened a shortage in the labor supply in the cotton fields, where the picking is soon to commence.

Exaggerated reports have been sent from here since the burning of the negroes Reed and Cato on Tuesday. These reports have created the impression abroad that life is unsafe and property threatened. The contrary is true, for the lesson of Tuesday had made a profound impression on the negroes. It is to preserve this condition that the efforts of all classes of whites are directed. No violence has been directed against the better class of negroes.

There is evidence that irresponsible marauders have committed some acts of violence against the negroes, such as the shooting of an aged colored man named Roberts, and his son, in their cabin Tuesday night. This has been deprecated by all. Roberts had lived 70 years in this community, and commanded the respect of every good citizen.

Offers of assistance, if it be needed to subdue the negroes, have come from Brunswick, Valdosta and other Georgia points. The question most discussed today is the alleged mismanagement of the troops during the trial of Reed and Cato. A non-commissioned officer of the local military company declares that two officers of his company have prepared to send their resignations to the governor, and that a majority of the company has asked for dismissal from the service.

This officer declared that the members of the company were required to give up the loaded cartridges that had been issued to them, and that other and smaller cartridges were issued to less than a half dozen members of the company. He said orders were given that there should be no firing. The local men lay the blame on the officer in command, the captain of the Savannah company on duty here.

It is declared, and not denied, that the mob, with the two negroes on the way to the stake, passed within a few yards of the soldiers stationed about the jail. It is declared, and not denied, that these soldiers even then could have rescued the negroes and held them against the mob.

A well-known business man, who admits his leadership of the mob, and who admits he had a part in the burning of the negroes, told the Associated Press correspondent that the plans to kill the two negroes at the end of the trial, regardless of the what the verdict might be, was formulated the day before the trial, excepting that it was not previously determined that burning should be the method. These plans, he declared, were carried out exactly as made.

The same citizen declared that the military authorities have his name as well as others who had an active part in the killing of the prisoners. He said that no grand jury would indict and no petit jury in this county would find guilty any man who had part in the work.

Judge Daly, presiding at the trial of the negroes, said he could not say what action, if any, will be taken to apprehend those who had part in the work.

Posse After Carolina Negro.

CHARLESTON, S. C., Aug. 18.—Allen Heathington, a young white farmer and sawmill owner, was shot and killed today at his sawmill by a negro. A posse is hunting the murderer.

More Charges Than Expected.

David Koester of 58 Washington avenue, Allentown, insisted on being arrested yesterday morning, and after some persuasion he induced Policeman W. D. Moore to comply with his request. When he arrived at the police station he was discovered that Mrs. Koester had sworn out a warrant for her husband's arrest on a charge of disorderly conduct.

OLD PENN'S SONS GO TO ST. LOUIS

GIFT FOR MRS. PENNYPACKER

The Pennsylvania commission to the Louisiana Purchase exposition, headed by Gov. Pennypacker, passed through Pittsburgh last night on a special train. The party remained at the Union station half an hour, the train having come in as the third section of the St. Louis limited. The train was composed of eight drawing room cars and two dining cars and 140 persons were aboard, including the members of the commission, the wives and daughters of some of them, and a dozen or more invited guests. The Pittsburgh members of the party and those from Western Pennsylvania boarded the train at the Union station.

Before the train started there was a presentation to Mrs. Pennypacker. She was very much surprised when suddenly the entire party tried to squeeze themselves into the governor's car, which was the last one in the train. Speaker Henry Walton of the house of representatives rapped for order and presented to Mrs. Pennypacker, on behalf of the commission and its guests, a beautiful diamond brooch. Gov. Pennypacker was expected to say something in response, and to give him time to get his breath Speaker Walton ordered Representative Frank B. McClain to sing a song. Mr. McClain obeyed and the crowd gave the yell composed for the trip:

"Pennsylvania.
Pen-sil, Pen-sil,
Pennsylvania."

Then the governor thanked the party on behalf of his wife for the gift and the spirit that actuated the giving and the train pulled out.

The headquarters of the party at St. Louis will be at the Jefferson hotel. At the Pennsylvania day exercises tomorrow the presiding officer will be Lieut.-Gov. William M. Brown. Gov. Pennypacker will be the orator of the day, and he has taken for the subject of his remarks "The Battle of Fallen Timbers," that date being the anniversary of the battle in which Gen. "Mad" Anthony Wayne won the victory which opened the way for the acquisition of the southwest and northwest sections, known as the Louisiana purchase territory.

In the evening Gov. Pennypacker will hold a reception in the state building. The party will remain in St. Louis until 9 o'clock next Tuesday morning, when the homeward trip will be begun.

Gov. Samuel W. Pennypacker, Mrs. Pennypacker, the Misses Pennypacker, Associate Justice W. P. Potter, Lieut.-Gov. William M. Brown, Mrs. Brown, Miss Brown, Speaker Henry F. BOY BANDITS FIRED AT MOTORMAN WHO PURSUED

John McDonald, a motorman, yesterday afternoon saw two boys in Skunk Hollow. One of them was carrying a large bag containing several pairs of shoes. McDonald started after them when the boy carrying the bag dropped it and the other drew a revolver and fired several shots at McDonald, after which he dropped the weapon and the two ran away. McDonald secured the bag containing the shoes and the revolver and took them to the police station. He was unable to give a description of the boys, but they are believed by the police to be members of a gang of thieves who infest the Laurel avenue district and who have been operating in Bloomfield.

FLEMING ESTATE GOES TO WIDOW

Late Select Councilman's Will to Be Filed by Attorney Brennen.

QUESTION ABOUT DOWER

The will of the late George S. Fleming will be filed in a day or two, and its contents will surprise many persons even those who knew that Mr. Fleming was married two years ago. The will leaves the entire estate to Mrs. Fleming.

Mr. Fleming owned a large interest in the company operating the drug and liquor business at Market and the Diamond. He also had an interest in the still unsold remainder of the estate of his father, Joseph Fleming, and he owned some shares of stock in several companies. All of this property, under the will, will go to his wife. The will is comparatively brief.

It was reported that William J. Brennen, the attorney who wrote the will according to Mr. Fleming's directions, was to read the will to Mrs. Fleming yesterday, but Mr. Brennen declined to say whether or not he did read it. The fact is, however, that the widow has known the contents of the will ever since it was signed by her husband, so that the reading would be only a formality.

There will probably be legal trouble over some Joseph Fleming property purchased some months ago in Wheeling, W. Va., by the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Company. The deal for the transfer of the property, was engineered by George S. Fleming, acting as executor of the Joseph Fleming estate, and was closed up on September 15, 1903, and the deed recorded two days later. All the heirs to the estate attached their signatures to the deed with the exception of George S. Fleming's wife.

It is well known that Mr. Fleming was married secretly, and that only one or two of his friends knew until lately that he was married. No information about the manner of transfer of the Wheeling property could be ascertained last night, but it is thought that perhaps when Mr. Fleming attached his signature to the deed he was not ready to make his marriage public and omitted securing his wife's signature. According to law she is, it is said, entitled to her dower right in the property. It is said in Wheeling that the widow will sue for her proportion of the proceeds of the sale. The property brought $55,000.

Mayor Hays yesterday ordered his clerks to prepare a proclamation calling a special election in the First ward to fill the vacancy in select council caused by the death of George S. Fleming. The election will be held on September 12.

ARMY OF OFFICERS FOUGHT HARD TO RECOVER CARPET

Woman Bravely Withstood the Glare of Brass Buttons and the Door Was Caved In.

All for a small piece of carpet, Deputy Sheriff Noble Matthews and a squad, assisted by Inspector Bailey, Lieut. McPoland and other officers of the East End police station, surrounded the home of James Minor, colored, of 131 Shetland avenue, East End, yesterday afternoon, overpowered the occupants of the house, and then battered in a door with clubs and axes.

Besides there was a riot call over the trouble. It was sent in by Deputy Matthews, who was endeavoring, at about 2 o'clock, to recover the carpet on a writ of replevin. Minor held the officers at bay with weapons of his own, but the sight of brass buttons caused him to flee. Mrs. Minor stood in the way of the whole army of officers as they entered the front door. She also refused to give up the keys to the room in which the property was later secured. She claimed she had lost the keys. Then followed the breaking open of the door and the excitement soon subsided.

The affair was witnessed by a crowd of about 500 people at Shetland and Park avenues.

Reward for 25 Years' Service.

Councilman James W. Gallagher of North Braddock, who has served in the Edgar Thomson steel works since the coming of Capt. William R. Jones to Braddock 25 years ago, was yesterday promoted to the superintendency of the plate machines and ladle house. For 20 years Mr. Gallagher has been a locomotive engineer in the yards. In his new position he will have charge of five foremen and about 300 men. In spite of his 25 years' service he is only 45 years old.

Braddock Pastor Called to Hoboken.

The Rev. Conrad Engelder, pastor of the German Immanuel Lutheran church, in Fifth street, Braddock, has received a call to the pastorate of the St. John's Lutheran church at Hoboken, N. J. Mr. Engelder has served his church at Braddock for about 11 years.

FORGOT HE WAS MARRIED, BUT HAD TWO WIVES

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—Confronted by two wives, neither of whom he remembered having married, Howard N. Corey, was arraigned in the Harlem police court this afternoon charged with bigamy. Wife No. 1, Mrs. Matilda Carey, 98 Morgan street, Brooklyn, was in court with her 4-year-old son. Wife No. 2, the bride of a little more than a month, was also present.

The little boy recognized his father as soon as Corey was brought into court, and ran to him with outstretched arms and cries of joy. The father, without an instant's hesitation, took the boy in his arms and kissed him. Then the mother stepped before the man, hopeful of being recognized, too. But Corey turned a dull gaze on her and then looked out of a window. The woman fell to the floor in a faint. She was carried to a private room where wife No. 2 brought her back to consciousness.

Corey claims he was sunstruck during the Spanish-American war and that he did not remember having married both women. He asked the magistrate to adjourn the case until Monday in order that he might secure war department records to show that in the past years his mind has suffered frequent lapses. After some hesitation the request was granted, and he was held in $2,000 bail.

DEMAND FOR COKE STRONGER.

However, Less Than 100 Ovens Were Added to the Active List During the Past Week.

CONNELLSVILLE, PA., Aug. 18.—(Special.)—During the last week less than 100 ovens were added to the active list in the coke region, but the demand was stronger. Production was over 6,000 tons greater than the preceding week and 4,000 tons more were shipped than the previous week, although the Pittsburgh shipments fell off slightly. At the Empire plant 45 ovens were added to the active list. The average working days of the active plants was 5.70 days, as compared with 5.50 days the previous week. Production amounted to 153,256 tons, an increase of 6,240 tons over the previous week.

Shipments aggregated 6,860 cars, distributed as follows: To Pittsburgh and river points, 2,706 cars, a decrease of 42 cars; to points west of Pittsburgh, 3,000 cars, an increase of 90 cars; to points west of Everson, 1,154 cars, an increase of 124 cars. The shipments amounted to 154,350 tons, being 3,802 tons more than the preceding week. About 1,115 tons of stock coke was lifted from the yards and shipped. Out of a total of 23,053 ovens there are 12,822 active and 10,231 idle. Shipments from the Masontown field aggregated 1,405 cars, an increase of 61 cars. The shipment is estimated at 39,340 tons, an increase of 1,708 tons over the last report.

Jones & Laughlin to Build Hospital.

CALIFORNIA, PA., Aug. 18.—(Special.)—Plans are under way to establish a private hospital here for the use of the Jones & Laughlin interests. That corporation owns the Ella mines, and in case of accidents, which are frequent, it is now necessary to take the victim to Monongahela or Pittsburgh. The delay, it is believed, has cost lives.

Cut in Steerage Rates.

LIVERPOOL, Aug. 18.—The International Mercantile Marine Company today announced a cut in steerage rates from Liverpool on the Boston steamers to $8 75, a reduction of $3 75.

HOPELESS CASES.

When the doctor leaves and says the case is hopeless, what remains to be done? Nothing, if the doctor's word is final. Much, if you will listen to the statements of men and women who were once "hopeless cases" given up by doctors, and who were perfectly and permanently cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

Nothing is more sure than that thousands of men and women with diseased lungs, obstinate coughs, hemorrhage, emaciation and night-sweats, have been restored to perfect health by the use of the "Discovery." Will it cure you?

It has cured in ninety-eight cases out of every hundred where it was given a fair and faithful trial. By that record you have only two chances in a hundred of failure and ninety-eight chances of being restored to perfect health. It is worth trying.

Abram Freer, Esq., of Rockbridge, Greene Co., Ill., writes: "My wife had a severe attack of pleurisy and lung trouble: the doctors gave her up to die. She commenced taking Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and she began to improve from the first dose. By the time she had taken eight or ten bottles she was cured, and it was the cause of a large amount being sold here. I think the 'Golden Medical Discovery' is the best medicine in the world for lung trouble."

FREE. Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser containing over a thousand large pages is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Send 21 one-cent stamps for the book in paper covers, or 31 stamps for the cloth-bound volume. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

CIGARS UNITED

WE have established the largest cigar retailing business in the world—all within three years.

It is founded on the proposition that a business selling cigars better in quality by 30 to 50 per cent, than the same price can buy in any other way, is bound, by sheer force of merit, to double itself over and over again as time goes along. A very good result of our efforts, we think, is the
